She Fears It's Publicity Stunt

Chicago—(AP)—Press Agent Patti Counts chose a cellar saloon today to tell the world she does not choose to serve as chief of police of Aurora.

While photographers ordered the comely cop-designate about for the best angles, Miss Counts outlined a few angles of her own.

"I understand public relations," she told reporters. They already knew that. Her conference was called in the bistro she helps publicize—the Cloister inn in Hotel Maryland.

Gone from Miss Counts' pressbook was the pledge of yesterday that "I will fight anyone who opposes my appointment."

Suspects Publicity

Instead it was, "due to the complexities and the state of affairs in Aurora I find it necessary to decline the appointment."

"I thought I felt sincerely about this, but Mayor (Paul) Egan of Aurora, I think, was just after more publicity," the 28-year-old red-haired writer commented.

Mayor Egan of the suburb west of Chicago, long given to titillating acts designed to give him news space, named Miss Counts his police chief to take over for suspended Donald Curran. Curran hasn't budged from his office, though. Neither has the 68-man police force suspended by Egan.

Premier Says Jordan Able to Preserve Order

Not Alarmed Over Internal Situation, Rifai Declares

Amman—(AP)—Premier Samir Rifai expressed confidence today in the ability of his government to maintain order in Jordan.

The 3,000-man British military force sent in at the request of King Hussein in July will begin leaving the country Oct. 20.

In a written answer to questions submitted by the Associated Press, the premier said:

"Insofar as the internal situation is concerned, the government is fully confident that conditions are steadily returning to normal."

This small Middle East nation has been resisting pressure from discontented elements within its borders and from some of its Arab neighbors for the last 18 months.

Rifai's confidence that Jordan has weathered the storm was supported by the fact that the youthful king has begun traveling freely about his realm and is being warmly received both in isolated desert districts and in Amman.

Captives Freed

Also the government announced the release of an additional 53 political detainees, bringing to about 400 the number freed in the last two weeks.

Rifai expressed hope that existing disagreements in the Arab world will be resolved. He did not refer by name to President Nasser's United Arab Republic which, Jordan says, has given her the most trouble.

The premier was asked if belief the Jordan government felt the Middle East atmosphere would steadily improve. He replied: "The Jordan government earnestly hopes that this would be the case notwithstanding the fact that practical signs have not yet appeared to create full confidence."

Roman Catholics of this predominantly Catholic nation were called upon by Jaime Cardinal de Barros Camara to vote against communist-backed candidates.

Nearly 14 million of Brazil's 60 million people are expected to cast ballots. At stake are all 326 seats in the chamber of deputies, 21 of the 63 senate seats and 9 of the 21 state governorships.

The labor party is among the Big Three of Brazilian politics. The others are the social democratic party and the national democratic union. There are eight smaller parties in addition to the communists.

The labor party's leader is Vice President Joao Goulart. He is not running for office today, but may be out after the presidency in 1960. The communists also are backing Goulart.

Communists also are backing Sao Paulo's social progressive mayor, Adhemar de Barros, another potential candidate for the presidency in 1960. He was running to-day for the governorship of Sao Paulo state.

The communists apparently feel that the outcome of the election will determine whether the 1947 legal ban on their party is to stand. They are estimated to number only 20,000, but they polled 600,000 votes in the last election they entered as a legal party. That was in 1946.

GM and UAW Agree But Strike Continues

Policy Unchanged, U. S. Tells Formosa

Ambassador Gives Message Of Reassurance to Chiang

BY JAMES CARY

Taipei—(AP)—The United States has reassured nationalist China there is no change in its policy of refusing to give ground in the face of continued communist attacks on Quemoy and of demanding a cease-fire.

U. S. Ambassador Everett F. Drumright relayed this information from Secretary of State Dulles to President Chiang Kai-shek last night.

Chiang's reaction was not disclosed but the foreign ministry rejected again today Dulles' suggestion for reducing nationalist military strength on the offshore islands if the communists will stop shooting.

Shelling Continues

Thus the two governments held different policies on ending the Formosa strait crisis, now in its forty-second day.

Communist Chinese guns encircling the Quemoy islands continued to batter away, firing 1,143 shells during the early morning hours.

But there was increasing belief the artillery blockade was losing its effectiveness as sea convoys and air drops kept on unloading supplies. A massive increase in their size is expected soon with the help of U. S. equipment now being turned over to the nationalists.

The supply situation is "very much improved," said Rear Adm. Liu Hsiang-tu, defense ministry spokesman.

Vice Adm. Roland N. Smoot, head of the U. S. Taiwan (Formosa) defense command, said the Quemoyans can now hold out indefinitely under present conditions.

Any enlargement of the offshore war would come from the communists, not the nationalists, Smoot said. The nationalists recognize the importance of keeping the communists tagged with the blame for aggression, he added.

Smoot said the nationalists understood the world desire for a negotiated cease-fire and would accept one if it did not prejudice their sovereign rights. He did not define those rights.

Dulles' message seeking to reassure Chiang was sent after Chinese nationalist officials expressed fears that American policy was shifting in a way that might prejudice nationalist rights.

Secretary of State Dulles agreed last month to talks on the present treaty. Washington is believed willing to go along with the Japanese request for an entire new treaty because it might be simpler than making extensive changes in the old one.

The present pact, signed in 1951 when Japan regained independence, grants the United States the right to use bases here.

Many Japanese have complained that the pact was one-sided and had been imposed on a weak nation still almost completely dependent on the United States.

Foreign Minister Aichihiro Fujiyama is to confer with U. S. Ambassador Douglas MacArthur II tomorrow to iron out details of the negotiations, including a starting date.

Truman Sees Moves to Curb Labor Rights

Former President Urges Defeat of Efforts in 6 States

Cleveland—(AP)—Harry S. Truman today attacked proposals to "ban the union shop" as an "insidious attempt to shackle the rights of labor" and urged defeat of such proposals in six states where they come before the voters this year.

He said the proposals result from provisions of the Taft-Hartley law, which he referred to as "a concealed time bomb ticking away under the house of labor."

One provision of the Taft-Hartley law is that the union shop would not be permitted in states where state statutes prohibit it, the former president said at the quadrennial convention of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

His "Big Business" Truman said the National Association of Manufacturers and big business interests "who were behind the Taft-Hartley law" knew that "if they tried to destroy the union shop in the bright glare of the national publicity, then they would be exposed as enemies of the whole trade union movement."

They thought they would have a better chance to accomplish their purpose in the capitol of the states, and in state elections and referenda, where they might have less opposition, and less publicity.

There is lively interest in the issue in Ohio, where voters will ballot yes or no Nov. 4 on the issue, which says: "No employer or labor organization shall deny or identify itself with any union which has been found to be in violation of the law."

"We have local inequities that must be settled before our people can return to work," said Henry Sommers. The national settlement was reached Tuesday night, about 12 hours after the UAW struck GM plants across the nation.

A spokesman for UAW locals at Janesville, where 3,900 are employed in body and assembly plants, declined to comment on the settlement or the plans of the union.

Other turns his attention to American Motors Corp. Tuesday.

The new agreements give auto workers wage increases of 24 to 30 cents an hour over the next three years. Penalties are increased: severance pay provided for those whose jobs are moved or abolished, and layoff pay increased.

General Motors said at 9 a. m. that not a single plant had reopened in the wake of yesterday's contract-backing walkout. But at many points, local union and the company managers sat down to iron out their differences. UAW locals insist they will

Faubus Vows Schools Won't be Integrated

Arkansas Governor Promises to Help In Setting Up Private Organizations

Little Rock, Ark.—(AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today "I will never open the public schools as integrated institutions."

He opened a news conference by reading a statement, which contained the sentence, "The only question is whether the (Little Rock public school) facilities can be used by the (Little Rock private school) corporation, or not used at all."

Reporters asked him to clarify this and Faubus, speaking with emphasis, said he would never open the public schools on an integrated basis.

Collecting Money Faubus said he would assist private organizations—white and Negro—to set up and operate private, segregated schools.

The Little Rock Private School corporation is working to collect money, and fund buildings and equipment, to establish private high schools for white children.

Faubus said, "I will support and assist the corporation."

Dr. T. J. Roney, president of the group, says his plan does not embrace a private school for Negro children. Faubus added:

"The matter of providing educational facilities for the Negro students has been mentioned. I will assist the corporation or any other in providing education for Negroes, as well as whites. However, the corporation will require Negro teachers, facilities and funds for this purpose. It may be that the help of the NAACP (National Association for the Advancement of Colored People) will be needed, as well as some of the funds being received by Daisy (Mrs. L. C.) Bates and the money being spent for attorneys' fees."

Brazil Ready For Election

Decision Expected On Comeback Bid By Communists

Rio de Janeiro—(AP)—Brazilians elect a new congress and pass judgment on a comeback bid of the outlawed communist party today. The reds seek recognition as a major political force through support of various candidates, chiefly laborites.

Roman Catholics of this predominantly Catholic nation were called upon by Jaime Cardinal de Barros Camara to vote against communist-backed candidates.

Nearly 14 million of Brazil's 60 million people are expected to cast ballots. At stake are all 326 seats in the chamber of deputies, 21 of the 63 senate seats and 9 of the 21 state governorships.

Shipping Strike Now in Third Day

New York—(AP)—The strike of union dock officers against 20 American steamship firms entered its third day today, with more than 40 passenger liners and freighters tied up in ports from Boston to New Orleans.

Federal mediators had no luck in talks yesterday with representatives of the striking, 1,300-member Masters, Mates and Pilots union and the employer group, the American Merchant Marine institute.

Monroe's Body Found In Farm Shed Ruins

Monroe—(AP)—The body of a woman was found today in the ruins of a farm shed, after firemen had been summoned to fight what was thought to be a routine blaze.

Fight to Control Fire in California

Monrovia, Calif.—(AP)—Firefighters massed today to halt the spread of flames which have destroyed eight homes and blackened 800 acres of brush surrounding this foothill city.

Five hundred men battled through the night against the blaze, started by three children playing with matches.

Seven of the razed homes are in Monrovia. The other is in exclusive Bradbury estates. Officials said the main part of the fire today was burning northward into uninhabited land at the north end of Monrovia canyon and away from the city.

Japan Wants New Treaty

Proposes to Discard Existing Pact Rather Than to Revise It

Tokyo—(AP)—Premier Nobusuke Kishi told parliament today Japan will seek a completely new security treaty with the United States rather than revision of the 7-year-old existing pact.

Japan wants a written agreement for U. S. forces to defend this nation against aggression and a voice in the disposition of American forces stationed here.

Secretary of State Dulles agreed last month to talks on the present treaty. Washington is believed willing to go along with the Japanese request for an entire new treaty because it might be simpler than making extensive changes in the old one.

West Blamed for Tests in Russia

Moscow—(AP)—The Soviet government said today it has resumed testing of its nuclear weapons because the United States and Britain have kept on with their test shots.

Local Issues Still Await Settlement

Detroit—(AP)—General Motors and the United Auto Workers reached agreement on a 3-year master contract last night, but GM's vast industrial empire remained shut down today by a strike of its 250,000 UAW members.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther hailed the new national agreement as "good for the nation, good for the UAW and good for GM," but he cautioned that GM workers at 126 plants across the country were authorized to remain on strike to back up local demands.

A company-wide walkout against GM preceded the new pact by 12 hours. Before that, there had been a rash of wildcat strikes. The old contract ran out four months ago and tensions had mounted in recent weeks under no-contract operations.

Reuther and GM Vice President Louis G. Seaton expressed hope local grievances would be settled quickly so GM could get into full production of 1959 cars and trucks. It makes half those built in the United States.

Promise Algerians New, Better Life

De Gaulle Appeals to Rebels to Halt Insurrection; Outlines 5-Year Program for Advancement

Constantine, Algeria —(AP)— Premier de Gaulle today appealed to the Algerian rebels to halt their bloody insurrection and promised Algerians a new and better life—economically and politically.

But close ties with France must remain, he said.

De Gaulle charted a 5-year program for bettering the living and working conditions of the eight million Moslems in Algeria. He promised them more and better jobs and housing, land distribution and greater educational opportunities.

He said elections will be held in Algeria within two months under the same conditions as in metropolitan France. And he declared flatly:

Must Be Moslems

"At least two-thirds of these representatives must be Moslems."

Until now, political representation in Algeria has been heavily in favor of the one million European residents of Algeria.

Speaking to 50,000 persons massed in a public square, de Gaulle made a dramatic appeal to the Algerian rebels whose insurrection is nearly four years old.

"Why kill? One should make life instead? Why destroy?"

Robert Taft's Widow Dies In Cincinnati

Was Companion of Her Late Husband On Campaign Trail

Cincinnati —(AP)— Mrs. Martha Bowers Taft, 68, widow of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, died Thursday at her home in suburban Indian Hill.

Her son, State Rep. Robert Taft, Jr., said death was apparently due to heart disease. Mrs. Taft, who always shared her husband's campaign battles, had been confined to a wheelchair since suffering a stroke in 1950. Her death, however, was unexpected.

Funeral services will be held Saturday with burial beside her husband in an Indian Hill cemetery.

During Taft's early political years Martha Taft was a constant source of support. She made speeches and the speeches made friends.

In 1938, when Taft tried for the U. S. senate for the first time, she startled old-line politicians by stumping Ohio for him, making speeches and arrangements in 85 of the 88 counties. One Cleveland newspaper headlined his victory "Bob and Martha win."

She worked just as hard again in 1944 and in his unsuccessful tries for the presidential nomination. Her illness curtailed her activities, but in his last attempt — in 1952 — she conducted a one-woman letter writing campaign for him.

The team of Bob and Martha didn't quite reach the White House, but that's where they met. She was the daughter of the U. S. solicitor general. He was the son of President William Howard Taft. They were married in 1914.

Besides Robert Jr., Mrs. Taft is survived by three other sons, William Howard, former ambassador to Ireland, and now a state department adviser; Lloyd, former executive vice president of the Cincinnati Times-Star — a family enterprise — before it was sold this summer, and, Horace, an assistant professor of physics at Yale. There are 14 grandchildren.

Mrs. Taft, only three months younger than her husband, was born in Winona, Minn., Dec. 17, 1889.

Washington Papers To Go to Press Today After Work Stoppage

Washington —(AP)— The end of a brief work stoppage by pressmen assured publication today of Washington's two evening newspapers.

The Evening Star and the Daily News were unable to put out editions Thursday because union pressmen stayed away from work after their contract expired Wednesday midnight.

However, the 175 pressmen voted last night to return to work and publication of the city's lone morning newspaper, The Post, was not interrupted.

At the urging of union officials, the pressmen agreed to continue working during negotiations on a new contract.

Mystery Man Gives Money To Churches

Middlesborough, England —(AP)— A mysterious benefactor in overalls showed up at a Middlesborough church today and gave away more than $1,000 for the second day running.

The mystery donor called at the Anglican Convent of the Holy Rood yesterday and handed the mother superior a bag containing 1,050 pounds ($2,940). The mother superior said the money was all in 5-pound notes, some of them 18 years old.

She said the man who gave her the money was young and dressed in overalls. He declined to give his name and said only: "My father has asked me to give you this."

Today a man—apparently the same one—cycled up to the All Saints church in overalls and handed the Rev. W. Walker a brown paper parcel containing 550 pounds ($1,540) in old 5-pound notes.

"I was absolutely staggered," said the vicar. "The man just said 'it is from my father. It is anonymous.'"

"I asked whom I could contact to say thank you, but he said, 'There is no need. I will do it for you.'"

NLRB Work To Broaden Smaller Businesses Now to Come Under Board's Jurisdiction

Washington —(AP)— From now on, the national labor relations board will handle cases involving many smaller businesses formerly outside its jurisdiction.

The NLRB Thursday announced new standards specifying reduced amounts of annual business a firm must do to be subject to supervision by the board in labor dispute cases.

The agency said the new rules, effective immediately, were expected to boost the NLRB's work load by about 2,500 to 3,000 cases a year. This would be an increase of about 20 per cent over current record levels.

To Reduce No Man's Land

The Taft-Hartley act gives the NLRB discretionary authority to limit its jurisdiction. Both employers and employees in a number of smaller firms which were denied NLRB services found themselves in a No Man's land when a supreme court ruling put them outside the jurisdiction of state labor dispute agencies.

The broadened NLRB jurisdiction is designed to reduce this area.

The new standards announced by the board vary from industry to industry. For example, for manufacturing, wholesale or non-retail type business the new standard is a $50,000 annual volume of business. The old standard ranged up to $1 million.

For newspapers, the board will take jurisdiction where the paper has an annual gross volume of $200,000 instead of the previous $500,000.

Pentagon Swings Blow At Unneeded Secrecy; Cuts Classified Papers

Orders Automatic Downgrading Of Documents Labeled Top Secret

Washington —(AP)— The Pentagon swung a major blow at unneeded secrecy today.

It ordered declassification of almost all military documents stamped top secret, secret and confidential before Jan. 1, 1960. Some date back to World War I days or before. Many millions of outdated documents are affected.

The declassification order was signed by Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy last Saturday, it was learned, and is due for formal announcement today.

Preliminary Jab

The order also takes a preliminary jab at the continuing accumulation of classified papers. It orders the automatic downgrading, after a period of years, of documents labeled top secret.

Left for future action is a time-phased schedule that will remove all grades of secrecy from documents after they have been stored for a given number of years.

Specifically exempted from the mass declassification order are papers detailing U.S. and allied war plans and almost everything connected with intelligence and counter intelligence.

Personnel and medical records also were excluded because their confidential nature is covered by numerous regulations, laws and customs that normally prevent the invasion of personal privacy.

Red Tape

No one knows how many papers have been tied up in security red tape. The estimates run into many hundreds of millions.

But they include an estimated 1,376,633 cubic feet of papers stored in 127,466 steel cabinets in military records centers, holding areas and the national archive.

These are the identifiable documents that the Pentagon can put its hands on. There are a lot more. The universities and some 23,000 industrial plants hold many still-classified papers from World War II.

Community Chest Campaigns

Once again the people of those communities in the Fox Cities area that have Community Chests are being asked to contribute to the annual drives that raise money for local welfare, health and recreational agencies. Appleton and Neenah-Menasha are by far the largest Chest communities in the area, each with a budget of over $100,000. Waupaca is trying a United Fund drive this year.

Community Chests have been highly successful in cities and towns throughout the country since they were started in the years following World War I. Most people have the impression that Community Chests exist mainly for the convenience of the giver; that the avoidance of multiple drives which irritate donors with their many demands is the chief reason the Chests were organized and continue to flourish. Others, perhaps, see another reason — the waste of manpower and womanpower that takes place with multiple drives; in a Chest drive the top brains and energies of the community are recruited into an effective campaign organization.

These, however, are not the real reasons for the success of the Community Chest idea. The real reason is that when money is raised in a single drive for a number of agencies, someone is going to have to decide how the money is to be divided. And that cannot be done until the overall needs of the community have been carefully analyzed, and the separate needs balanced against one another.

Thus Community Chests have become much more than fund-raising organizations; they also are the means by which community leaders study their communities' needs and problems; and try to spend money raised in the Chest drives wisely and effectively. In some cases the Chests themselves do this job, in many cases it is done through a partner organization usually called the Community Council.

Thus the citizen making a contribution to his Community Chest knows that his money will be used where it is most needed, and not simply devoted to maintaining some agency in business, propping up its prestige or satisfying a need that is less urgent than another need somewhere else in the community. Here is the real justification for Community Chests — people can contribute to them with confidence that their money will be spent carefully and wisely.

The success of a community's Chest campaign each year is, to a great extent, a measure of that community's basic health — the civic awareness of its people, their willingness to sacrifice for the good of the community, their confidence in the integrity and intelligence of their civic leaders. That is why we wish success, again this year, to the Community Chests in the Fox Cities area.

An Odd Sort of Liberty

Habib Bourguiba, president of the republic of Tunisia, used to speak in glowing terms of freedom. Freedom meant independence from France, of course, but a lot of Tunisians as well as foreigners interpreted Bourguiba's words as meaning political and individual freedom as well. They are finding out how wrong they were.

When Bourguiba came to power he appointed a young newspaper editor, Bechir Ben Yahmed, as minister of information, and enthusiastically backed his newspaper L'Action which had helped the campaign to drive out the French. But Ben Yahmed had a queer idea of newspaper responsibility to the new government; he insisted on printing adverse criticism as well as praise. The paper complained about the delay in getting through a constitution. It insisted that elections should be held for a new constituent assembly to make that legislative body something more than a meeting place of Bourguiba's party members. Yahmed was forced to resign, but he kept up the yammering of a free press.

Last week L'Action was banned by the government. One of its major stockholders, who had been ambassador to France, was replaced in that post by Bourguiba's son. A former premier who had differed slightly with the president was charged with "treason" although cleared by a court.

Story of a China Doll

For members of the news gathering profession the daily exercise of handling stories, either writing or editing, has a way of building an immunization — even nonchalance — toward tragedy.

But once in a while there comes to our desks a story so poignant that even newsmen of long experience pause in a moment of reflection.

Such was the story of Christine Currier — a 10-year-old who lived only for a dream and saw it come to pass.

We think it rates mention here because it touches, in a way, the mental attitude of your youngster as he plays at your feet even while you read these words.

Christine's dream was simple. She wanted to go to school.

Hers, it might be said here, was a special case. She was afflicted with a rare disease which made her bones brittle as glass. Most of her life was spent in a hospital bed. But, even as she suffered through the long years of treatment and the painful aspects of her disease, she longed for the chance to sit in a classroom and do the ordinary things that children do in the process of obtaining an education.

From her bed she studied. She learned to read and write and use a typewriter.

Nurses at the Bremerton, Wash., hospital where she spent much of her life christened her "China Doll" and watched with inward anguish her daily struggle to learn.

But Christine's dream was destined to be fulfilled. Last week doctors gave permission for her to go to a Bremerton classroom and take part in the day's activities.

Christine's mother said the girl had a wonderful time. Her dream had, at long last, come true.

There's a final chapter to the story, however.

The evening of her first day at school she became ill. An ambulance was summoned but the China Doll died quietly in her mother's arms on the way to the hospital.

That's the story of Christine Currier and her dream.

It might be worth telling your youngsters the next time they balk at going to school.

Du Pont and Chevrolet

Edward N. Cole, who is general manager of the Chevrolet Motors division of General Motors and a vice president of the parent company, announced recently that Chevrolet cars for 1959 will wear tires with rayon cord. This announcement would not be unusual except that the Du Pont company, which produces nylon cord, holds 23 per cent of the stock in General Motors.

The Du Pont company bought its stock in General Motors many years ago. The $25 million investment has since increased in value until it is now in excess of $2,677 millions. The United States government has been in court for several years trying to compel Du Pont to get rid of this huge stock holding. The government claims Du Pont is in position to sell its products to General Motors despite all competition because of its financial interest.

In recent months there have been many news reports of the big battle going on between the producers of nylon and rayon for the automobile tire business. If there ever was a place where influence could be used to help Du Pont, this would appear to be it. Nevertheless Cole says the new Chevrolets are coming out with cord in the tires which is a derivative of rayon. Furthermore he says the Chevrolet division played an important part in developing the new cord which will be manufactured by five rayon manufacturers who have formed a new corporation for this purpose.

Not long ago we read a report that the Ford Motor Car company was testing tires and might come out with all nylon cords. If the government's argument is valid, to have Ford toying with the nylon idea is just as strange as Chevrolet's move to rayon.

Quite obviously both were motivated by the same reasoning. They want the thing that appeals to the public for their cars and they cannot afford to take anything less than that even if it is sold by a financial second cousin.

U. S. Not Getting Enough From Education Dollar, Magazine Says

New York, N. Y. — Fortune magazine says Americans are not getting big enough return on their invested education dollar. In fact, educational "productivity" has been declining since the turn of the century.

The magazine notes low productivity of the education industry — increasing costs, decreasing efficiency — is one of the troublesome elements in the widely publicized teacher-salary problem. If the case for teachers' salaries were judged solely by statistics on teacher productivity, says the magazine, "it would be a weak case indeed."

The education industry can be considered the largest single enterprise in the United States, writes editor Daniel Seligman, with expenditures of $20 billion a year. It has a larger "plant" than even the steel or auto industry. But while steel productivity has been rising on the average of 3 or 4 per cent a year, and two workers today can produce as much steel as three did in 1947, no such economies are visible in the education industry.

Productivity Gauge
In gauging educational productivity it is necessary to measure the number of students instructed, the time consumed in this instruction and the number of employees required to deliver it. These figures, the magazine points out, show that educational productivity is down.

In 1900 there were 37 enrolled students for every teacher in the elementary schools today there are 26 for every teacher. The average school term has lengthened during this period, from 144 to 178 days. In other words, teaching time per enrolled student has been increasing.

At the turn of the century, the public schools required about 62 million teacher days a year, while in the 1957-58 school year they were using about 220 million teacher-days. This is a gain of over 250 per cent. The number of enrolled students has increased only about 100 per cent.

Whether teachers' salaries have moved slower than other groups' earnings is a controversial question. If 1929 is taken as the base date, it can be shown earnings of all public-school teachers have advanced about as rapidly as the earnings of all manufacturing employees, registering a gain of about 90 per cent in real income. But if the base date is 1939, teachers have lagged behind manufacturing employees. On the other hand teachers have advanced more rapidly up the pay scale than have local-government employees.

Instruction Down
Total education costs, which now include better buildings, gymnasiums, auditoriums, transportation and auxiliary services, have been rising steadily. But the share of the education dollar given to instruction itself has been declining. It was 64 per cent of all education expenditures in 1945-46, while today, despite the sharp increase in teachers' salaries, it is not much above 50 per cent.

The schools, says the magazine no less than the automobile industry, have an "inescapable production problem." Even if the quality desired was agreed on, Americans presumably would want the schools to turn out students with the greatest possible efficiency — i. e., to optimize the number of students, and, minimize the input or man-hours and capital. In this respect "the schools are no different from General Motors (which, by the way, is also engaged in a debate as to whether it is turning out the right product)."

The magazine concludes United States schools will get the teachers they want only by paying for them. It should be observed, it says, that beginning teachers' rates have pushed up faster than teachers' earnings in general. The median beginner's rate in large cities is now about 230 per cent higher than it was in 1939 and 73 per cent higher than in 1947. And these rates are rising sharply. If they continue to rise with no increase in teaching productivity, the periodical warns "then the financial difficulties of the education industry will be compounded woefully."

C-O-W for Cow, Certainly Not Car

Ponca City, Okla. — "Check on a cow going down Hillcrest," said the police radio.

"What color is it?" came the reply.

"I haven't any idea," said the dispatcher, who waited a moment then added: "Cow: c-o-w."

Valuable Clay Bed Discovered

79 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Oct. 4, 1879.

In excavating for the main side-track of the Chicago and North Western Railway, near the river in the First ward, a very valuable bed of clay, suitable for making pottery has been discovered.

The deposit appears to be immense. This affords an excellent chance for the opening of a new and important manufacturing interest.

Mrs. C. C. Nelson, Appleton, was elected county president of Women's Christian Temperance Union.

Thomson Won't Alter State Police Program

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Madison — Notes from the cuff of a political reporter:

One of the major pronouncements of Gov. Thomson recently that got little notice, considering all of the explosive background of the subject, said that he has no intention of recommending changes in the state traffic law enforcement program in the next legislature.

That means, if he is re-elected, a deferral of the union of county and state patrol forces long urged by some critics, and the denial of the hopes of the motor vehicle department for an enlargement of its own 250 man patrol.

John Krueger, a Milwaukee lawyer, is preparing to run against Justice E. Harold Hallows of the Wisconsin supreme court in the April elections next year. Contrary to some reports, Circuit Judge Gerald Boileau of Wausau won't run.

Again Gov. Thomson has turned to Everett K. Yerly of LaCrosse, a veteran campaign manager, to take charge of his campaign headquarters here and again Yerly is working at the job together with his wife, Elaine.

MEANING OF A WORD

One of Gaylord Nelson's major statements of the campaign thus far that has not been widely noted was his declaration in Appleton recently that if elected he would reorganize the state highway department.

"Reorganization," in the language of politics, means a legislative act enabling the governor in power to get rid of the top officials of an agency.

Sen. Alexander Wiley, upon whom some Republicans are depending to give some aid to their ticket this year, probably shows his intentions by the anecdotes he tells in his current series of "non-political speeches."

One of the stock stories concerns a chat with a taxi driver in Washington two years ago who expressed surprise upon the senator's return. The tale gives Wiley a chance to rub in the fact that he defeated the Republican party organization in the campaign for renomination that year.

The Democrats this year have improved in the recruiting of candidates for county courthouse offices, but the total candidate list is a disappointment to some party chieftains nevertheless. There are Democratic contenders for 318 out of 568 county offices on the ballot this year, which is considably below the Republican percentage.

The sketch on Eugene Lamb, Democratic nominee for state treasurer, in the current edition of the Democratic state headquarters news organ skips over the fact that he served several terms in the legislature as a Republican.

NIXON TO FLY

Vice President Richard Nixon and his party and press correspondents will probably be flown from point to point during his campaign tour of the state late this month.

Democratic campaign managers have noticed differences in the expense account practices of some of the big name performers they bring into the state. One senator, according to a complaint recently aired at a party state committee meeting, appears to cost more to move around in a campaign by a considerable margin than the others.

Some officials are privately grumbling about the need for reform in the state architect's department. Building appropriations are delayed for unconscionably long periods, under the presently in a adequate arrangements, posing the danger that the legislature may change its mind about the urgency of the needs to which it responded.

Less Than No Time at All For Air Flight

From The Portland Oregonian

Gen. Curtis LeMay and his crew stepped into a jet tanker in Tokyo at 8:56 and arrived over Washington, D. C., at 8:24 a. m. the same day. They actually beat both the sun and the calendar in traveling 7,100 miles in what appeared to be 32 minutes less than no time at all.

Standard time zones extending around the world were drawn in consequence of the need for an orderly time system for America's first transcontinental railroads. The international dateline, which runs through the central Pacific and is responsible for the incongruity of the LeMay record, originally was of practical use only to mariners.

Having passed through several eras of sea and land transportation to that of the air, we are now going to have to put time in a new and different package in order to make sense out of it?

Swimming Pool Built by Woman

Montclair, N. J. — Mrs. Dorothy Kaveny wants to be a licensed plumber. To prove she has the skill, she recently built a 20 by 40 foot swimming pool in the back yard for her five children.

She got interested in plumbing 7 years ago when her father-in-law died and her mother-in-law wanted a woman in the family plumbing business.

"You'd be surprised what a sense of satisfaction you can get from being able to fix a leaky faucet or unclog a stopped-up clothes washer," says Mrs. Kaveny.

Doesn't Win Prize, But Stops the Show

Lexington, Ky. — Larry Walker and Paul Davis didn't win any prizes with their exhibit at the junior high school science fair. But the exhibit was a conversation winner.

It was a miniature moonshine whisky still.

Seeks Repeal of Crime Lab Cost Sharing Law

Support of Police, Superintendent Gets District Attorneys

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison —UP— Supt. Charles Wilson of the Wisconsin state crime laboratory is making progress in his campaign to repeal a 1955 law intended by the state legislature to trim his sails.

Wilson is being backed by organizations of local law enforcement officers and government officials in his insistence that counties asking for help in crime detection and apprehension should not pay half the costs.

Such a requirement is deterring local officials from asking for the expert services of his laboratory when they are needed, he complained as he offered a bill to the legislative council that would make such services free and chargeable wholly to the state treasury.

The charge-back statute re-

But the chief brought to the council impressive backing for his repeal proposal — in-

Wilson also disclosed, in the bill he presented in preliminary form, an intention to ask for an increase of about one-third in his budgeted funds.

Seymour Firm Low Bidder on Gravel Contract

The M. R. K. Construction company, route 3, Seymour, has been awarded a contract by the county highway committee to supply gravel for the resurfacing of County Trunk N between Highway 41 and County Trunk E north of Little Chute.

The firm submitted a low bid of $1.64 per yard for 24,000 yards of 1½-inch gravel, and 12,000 yards of ¾-inch gravel.

Other bidders were Murphy Construction company, Black Creek, and Landwehr and Hackl, Seymour.

Marriage Annulment Granted in Court

Mrs. Catherine J. Lichtenberg, 40, 337 E. Washington street, has been granted an annulment in municipal court from Harold J. Lichtenberg, 30, route 2, Wautoma.

They were married in Alma City, Minn., Feb. 15. Mrs. Lichtenberg charged Lichtenberg misrepresented the facts when applying for a marriage license by failing to report a divorce within the last six months. Minnesota has a 6-month waiting period following divorces before either party can marry.

Next President Will Need More Electoral Votes

Washington—(AP)—With Alaska becoming the forty-ninth state, it's going to take more electoral votes to pick the next president.

When Alaska holds its first election on Nov. 25 to choose two senators and one representative it will increase total senate membership to 98 and house membership to 436 in the 86th congress convening next January.

The electoral college for the 1960 presidential election will be raised by three votes to 534—one for each senator and house member. This compares with the 531 total in effect since the 1912 election.

The winning presidential candidate in 1960 will have to poll at least 268 electoral votes, a majority of 534, instead of 266 as before.

Unless Hawaii meanwhile is made the 50th state, the electoral college vote would be reduced by one—to 533—for the 1964 election. This is because the addition of a house member for Alaska only temporarily raises the total house membership to 436. After the 1960 reapportionment the over-all total is due to drop back to the present legal 435. The senate total will not drop back.

There will be no reapportionment or reshuffling of house seats to change any state's electoral vote in time for the 1960 presidential balloting. The new census starting April 1, 1960 will determine which states gain or lose by shifts in population, and it will not be completed in time to affect the 1960 voting.

'Right to Work' May Win for Knowland Cut Expenses

State Emotions Strong Enough To Cause Shifts Between Parties

BY SAMUEL LURELL

If there is any "sleeper" issue that could win the California governorship for William Knowland it is the right-to-work referendum that California voters will be voting on next month. That in a year seems like a long time to make a decision, but since Knowland's championing of this proposal to outlaw the union shop was one main reason why he did so poorly against Pat Brown, his Democratic rival, in last June's primary.

However, in a week's interviewing through California I found that what to do about labor unions was the one issue stirring strong enough emotions to cause both Democrats and Republicans to break normal party ties.

Also, in many parts of Los Angeles and the agricultural central valley I found as many as a fourth of the voters still had not made up their minds on the issue.

Some were confused what "right to work" meant, several thinking it was aimed at ending discrimination against Negroes in employment. But most of the "undecideds" were torn by a genuine conflict of emotions.

Standards May Drop

As the wife of a San Francisco telephone worker put it, "There definitely are things about unions that need changing. But if unions are outdone, wage standards may drop. I can still remember my first out of its owners' enclosure job back in Blair, Neb. It and assaults a person who so paid only 4 a week."

The recession has stimulated such depression memories. If Knowland is to win he must be able to convince California

"the Republicans don't care for little people." Still he favored Knowland. "I've suffered a lot from union racketeers and bosses," he explained. "Right to work would make the union heads listen to the grievances of their members."

Again, a 42-year-old Railway Express worker declared, "I believe in unions. Without them a man would be a slave. But the union shop makes for dictators. You can't get rid of a bad leader. If you must be a member they can force you to do anything."

Not the Answer

However, a 62-year-old office manager, a life-long Republican, was voting for Brown. "I'm opposed to union gangsterism," he explained.

"But right-to-work isn't the answer."

Another staunch Republican, a foreman in a food factory, was shifting Democratic because "although our plant isn't organized we get raises that keep up with what unions get. We don't want unions weakened."

The Knowland-Brown contest is also proving to be an intriguing test of an age-old political riddle: who is the better vote-getter, the man who blurs or the one who sharpens issues.

Factional Quarrels

A former teacher resented Knowland's resigning from the United States senate to run for governor. In taking this action Knowland forced Republican Gov. Goodwin Knight to run for the U.S. senate instead of seeking reelection as governor. This shuffle alienated many of Knight's friends.

In most California elections over the past decade the Democrats were torn by factional quarrels. But today it is the Republicans who are divided. A surprising number of Republicans I ran into told me, "I'll vote for Knowland but not Knight" or "I'm for Knight but not Knowland."

On the other hand, the more "liberal" Democrats seem to have swallowed any qualms they had about Brown. A Los Angeles music composer, whose wife was a labor union organizer, confessed "We know Brown isn't really for labor but we have no alternative."

Plan Live Turkey Shoot, Fish Contest

Kewaskum — The Kewaskum club will sponsor its sixth annual live turkey shoot Oct. 12 at the Bar-N-Dude ranch, six miles northeast of Kewaskum on County Trunk 6GGG.

Other events include a live trout fishing contest and trap and deer rifle target shooting.

Club-Going Police Told

Magistrate Says Some Bills High Even for Probers

London — Police snoots who keep watch on London's night clubs are being told to spend less money on dining, wining and entertaining the hostesses.

Spending is part of a detective's duty when he is sent to check on drinking after licensing hours, a police spokesman explained.

"They have to act like genuine customers," he said. But after what came out at Bow street magistrate's court at the weekend, police chiefs called for a report and immediately ordered "cut the expenses."

High Expenses — The magistrate, Sir Laurence Dunne, dismissed charges of out-of-hours drinking at the fashionable Stork Room, in London's gay west end, because of inconclusive testimony.

He was told a detective's expenses for keeping the club under observation totaled 86 pounds ($240.80).

Dunne commented that to spend that amount of public money was "quite indefensible and utterly wrong." "I am not seeking to teach the police to do their own job but I think this is the sort of thing that would raise disquiet in the minds of the public," he said.

Inspector Norman Fairman had testified that on one occasion he visited the club in plain clothes with a doctor friend. Their bill came to 20 pounds 8 shillings ($57.12) and Oct. 12 at the Bar-N-Dude they gave presents of 5 pounds each to the two hostesses who dined, drank and danced with them.

It all went on the expense account.

owner of the Stork Room. William O'ner, talked to newsmen about the inspector's bill and compared it with the night Princess Margaret visited the club.

"She was with Lord Plunkett and Lord Grenville in a party of nine," O'ner said.

"They had a wonderful time — all on 21 pounds ($68.00)."

A police spokesman said the 200 licensed night clubs in London's west end have to be watched regularly for crooks as well as possible breaches of the drinking laws. Detectives are assigned from a special club squad at a west end police station.

Will Great Britain Give Up Hong Kong?

Crown Colony's Position Similar To Quemoy, Matsu

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — Will Great Britain now give up Hong Kong? This question is being asked here among diplomats and officials because the British Labor party has been urging that Quemoy and Matsu be surrendered by the Chinese Nationalist government.

The crown colony of Hong Kong includes that part of the mainland of China itself, as well as two islands a mile off the coast. The whole area is 391 square miles. Only about 15,000 British citizens live there. The rest of the population of around 2.6 million is Chinese. If the only guiding rule is that what "belongs to the mainland of China" shall be given to the red China regime, then the case for the giving up of Hong Kong is much stronger than that claimed by the British Labor party leaders for taking away Quemoy and Matsu from the nationalists.

The conservative government in Britain is doubtless not at all interested in giving up Hong Kong. Great Britain has many millions of dollars of trade with Hong Kong each year, and lately this has been booming.

Military Title From the point of view of military title, repossession of Hong Kong was obtained after World War II by Great Britain at about the same time that the nationalist government recovered from Japanese rule the offshore islands of Matsu and Quemoy.

The Hong Kong colony is believed to be largely anti-communist, and it would be tragic to deliver the freedom-loving Chinese of Hong Kong into the murderous hands of the communists. But the British labor party leaders may not be taking such factors into account, any more than they have appeared to be concerned with the plight of the more than 50,000 free Chinese who are residents of Quemoy and Matsu.

Dulles Position Nor is there any weakening of the position of Secretary Dulles, despite the misinterpretations placed on his remarks at his Tuesday press conference. He favors a partial withdrawal of the garrisons on Quemoy and Matsu only if there is a "dependable cease-fire" in the entire area, including Formosa. Since there is no sign that the communists wish to agree to a cease-fire, the question of partial withdrawal of the garrisons on Quemoy and Matsu has been magnified out of all proportion to its real significance.

All that Dulles' remarks were intended to do was to offset the erroneous impression that the United States is unwilling to negotiate for peace in the far east. It is in fact now negotiating at Warsaw, and for three years before has been negotiating with the red Chinese ambassador at Geneva.

Treaty Duties
The American position is that it is required by treaty to consult with the nationalist government with respect to the defense of Formosa. It is true that resolution passed by congress in 1955 referred to the defense of Formosa and territories. It is begging the real question for critics to say that congress did not authorize the president to defend Quemoy and Matsu. In reality, the state department spelled out before congressional committees at the time that the only reason for inserting in the resolution a reference to the offshore islands was to make sure that our own military forces would not be handicapped if the communists started using the "related" islands as a base for an attack on Formosa.

Unfortunately, as President Eisenhower pointed out this week, public opinion superficially demands concessions and then, when war is later provoked as a result of manifested weaknesses, there is a lot of hindsight as to what might better have been done. Certainly a retreat while Quemoy and Matsu are under fire will be construed in the communist and "neutralist" world as a backdown by the west.

THE HANDY FAMILY

Children. Cabinets should be situated to eliminate the need for climbing.

Your new home should have an adequate number of electrical outlets. Do not overload them with appliances, as fires can result. Electrical cords stretched across floors or work areas invite accidents. Never switch on electricity while hands are wet or while working in water — a serious shock can occur. Bathroom light switches are purposely located out of reach of the tub or shower for this reason. Check to see that pull cords on individual bathroom light fixtures are insulated.

Skid-resistant floor covering helps reduce accidents, especially in the kitchen. Counter surfaces handy to stove and refrigerator and the installation of counter doors which do not project beyond work surfaces are recommended, both as a safety measure and step-saver for the homemaker. Cover guards should be used on all ventilating fans.

Accidents involving poison — which take a heavy toll of children's lives each year — largely can be prevented by keeping poisonous cleaners, etc., under lock and key and by the use of cabinets with lock-up sections to store medicine, including aspirin.

Careless handling or improper storage of firearms and ammunition invites troubles. Use caution while cleaning weapons and keep gun closets locked to lessen this danger — especially when there are young children in the household.

Matches should be stored in fireproof containers out of the reach of children. Care should be used in smoking — especially in bed.

The use of gasoline for house cleaning invites fire and explosion. Make certain that all inflammables are stored according to the manufacturer's instructions. Never store inflammables in glass jars with screw tops — a cork stopper is safer. Don't dispose of inflammable material in an incinerator. Grease spots on cement floors can be removed easily and safely with special powders prepared for this purpose. Never put sawdust under a car to absorb grease — sand is safer.

Vacuum Cleaner
Remove dust from your vacuum cleaner before putting dust into the cleaner away. But don't throw the loose dust into the heater or incinerator. That can cause an explosion.

Since rubbish and trash are prime fodder for fires that breed in out-of-the-way places, do not let them accumulate. Animal or vegetable oil mops, dust rags, painting on any combustible material equipment and other oil may ignite spontaneously under certain atmospheric conditions. Store wastepaper and trash in metal cans and dispose of it regularly to avoid pile fires. The application of a few simple rules for accident prevention in the basement, attic or other storage places. Stack many years of satisfaction newspapers and magazines which a new away from the furnace. When home brings to every member of the family.

Wriston Writes On Situation of U. S. Colleges

An article on the college situation in the United States by Dr. Henry M. Wriston, president of Lawrence college from 1925 to 1937, will appear in the coming issue of Life magazine.

In it the educator contends the apparent glut of college students is due to a poor distribution of students among colleges, rather than a shortage of college space. He also contends colleges will have to abandon some outmoded teaching methods, cut down on unnecessary courses and stop pretending to be all things to all comers.

After leaving Lawrence, Wriston was president of Brown university until 1955. He now leads the American assembly, an organization which holds conferences on U. S. problems.

Paper Murals Can Aid Most Odd Rooms

Wallpaper Will Create Illusion of Height, Depth

BY VIVIAN BROWN

The popularity of wallpaper murals is mainly due to the fact that they can do so much for problem rooms, says designer James Seeman, one of the country's foremost authorities on wall decoration.

"But many people still feel a perfect room is required for mural decoration," he says. "A mural is more suited actually to the problem room than any other since the results are so dramatic."

Walls interrupted by protrusions, for instance, are eyesores in a room. But it is possible to decorate around them with a scenic mural, he points out, and give the illusion of a flat wall.

Illusion of Depth

Take the long narrow hall, for instance, found as often in swank residential apartments as in tenement homes. It may offer an illusion of depth just by observing the right mural, one with a continuing scene such as a rolling country side or seascape.

"An illusion of height may be achieved with the right mural if that is the problem," Seeman says. "Use a mural, with strong vertical lines, running it directly from the baseboard." He illustrates this idea by showing a series of stylized trees, extending the upper tree top over the ceiling for some distance.

Dining rooms are usually more troublesome than other units in the home, having more broken - up wall space for some reason or another. Seeman advises following a mural directly around the room, skipping over the windows and doors as if they weren't there, and continuing the mural after each gap. "The eye will naturally follow the scenic mural, ignoring the blank spots," he says, and creating its own feeling of completeness and unity. In one dining room, furnished in early American style furniture, he used a rugged New England seacoast design.

French Street
A gay French street scene could be just the thing for the wall of a room furnished in French provincial furniture. In a Victorian living room, Seeman used a gay nineties scene.

After you've established the best design for your own particular situation, take a plumb line on the wall for proper measurement. Don't depend on door frames or ceiling lines to be accurate. Check carefully before you are stuck with an uneven wall mural.

Even though you may believe your strips are measured accurately, it is best to leave six inches top and bottom on each strip to allow for any errors.

Murals should be marked for continuity by the manufacturer, and these should be sorted out, and the wall marked off before the first one goes on. If paste seeps out from between panels clean it off immediately with a damp cloth, before you go on the next strip.

The American family is moving back into the kitchen! It's the best news we've heard in many an autumn moon.

In the kitchen, you're closer to the victuals — and far removed from the dreary twaddle of television.

But more than that seems to be behind this joyous journey.

Mother, the experts tell us, has lost her appetite for those gleaming - white, antiseptic kitchens.

This is not to say that Mother is forfeiting her right to any of those modern, labor-saving appliances which have made life in the kitchen so much easier.

Mother, the experts tell us, just wants to get some of that old-fashioned atmosphere back into the kitchen.

It's a return to the old Dutch kitchen — or, as it is known also, the country kitchen — where there is ample space as well as the facilities for family living.

Old-Fashioned Warmth

The trend today in kitchen design is away from cold, white efficiency — and back to the rich, warm atmosphere of colonial day kitchens. The Dutch kitchen of today is a combination of the old and new. It is old in its friendly warmth — and new in its use of modern materials.

Its basic components are still there — the large, open kitchen area with a fireplace and a dining table and a decor of wood and brick. There is still a door from the kitchen to the outside.

Elsewhere there are changes. Modern flooring materials, for example, are being used — rubber, vinyl, asphalt or ceramic tile.

But to achieve warmth, increasing use is being made of the old standby materials — brick, stone, cheerful wall paper and wood.

Modern appliances, of course, continue to be added. However, even the appliances, themselves, have been discarding the white finishes in favor of color and texture.

For paneling and built-in storage space, knotty or clear western pine woods are becoming increasingly popular. A variety of new and interesting finishes have been developed. These increase the lustre and warmth of wood while still retaining the natural beauty of the many available grains.

There are new ways of treating wood, too, and the pine-paneled kitchens of today thus are clean and as easy to maintain as almost any other material.

With the accent on wood, a new concept in built-ins and

Here's the Answer

BY ANDREW C. LANG

Question: Some months ago I bought a second-hand jointer for smoothing the edges of boards. It worked fine until recently, when it began to chatter slightly. Also, the board edges do not seem to be coming out as smooth as they used to. Can you tell me what the trouble is?

Answer: The symptoms you describe indicate that the cutter blades of the jointer are in need of sharpening. You can have this done professionally or, if you have experience along this line, do it with a flat oilstone or slipstone. You can get a booklet describing the sharpening process from almost any dealer who sells jointers.

Question: I want to make a room divider with glass blocks but am a bit leery about handling mortar or cement. A friend tells me there's a new way to hold the blocks together. Is this so?

Answer: Yes, it is now possible to buy a prefabricated system for building interior sections of glass blocks with strips of woods and wedges.

Question: I began taking up metalworking as a hobby recently. In reading over various instructions for projects, I often run across the term "draw filing." Can you tell me what it means?

Answer: Draw filing is the finish filing which gives a smooth surface to a piece of metal that previously has been filed roughly. In draw filing, it is important that only a very smooth file be used. The filing is not done in the normal manner, which is by pushing the file lengthwise straight ahead or slightly diagonally. Instead, the file is grasped with one hand at each end and pushed and pulled sideways across the work. In doing draw filing, an even pressure must be maintained at all times.

Question: I recently bought an unfinished coffee table at a lumber yard. I decided to put a plastic laminate top on it and had no trouble in doing so. But I ran into difficulty in attempting to put chrome trim around the edges of the table. I ruined one piece of the trim and then put on a second piece. But the metal is all bunched up at each corner and looks so amateurish that we haven't even used the table yet. I'd like to remove the metal edging and cover the edges with the same kind of plastic laminate as on the top of the table. Can you tell me how to do this?

Answer: Plastic laminate edging must be put on the edges of a table before the top is put on. Otherwise you'll get another amateurish result. From your description, it appears that you put on the chrome trim without taking the necessary step to prevent crinkling at the corners. You can't bend the chrome edging around a sharp corner without making a V-cut in the metal at that point. This V-cut can be made with a hacksaw, although for some persons it's a lot easier to do it with a 3-cornered file, which makes an automatic V in the metal. Once the V has been cut at the precise point where it must be bent around a corner, you'll have little or no trouble with bunching. You have little choice now but to remove the old metal edging and put on new.

Question: My hobby is wood-working. I've worked with many different kinds of wood, but never with lemon wood, a type I intend to use soon in a new project. Is it true that most glues will not hold well on lemon wood and that a special type of glue must be used? If so, what kind?

Answer: Many glues will hold fairly well on lemon wood. However, it is best to avoid using the powdered-resin types of adhesives, since they do not work too well with any oily wood, such as lemon. The best adhesive for this wood is powdered casein, which is unaffected by oils.

Four New Home Permits Issued At Kimberly

Kimberly — Four new home permits have raised the total for the year to 37, according to building inspector Eugene Hietpas.

The estimated cost figure for the four structures is $86,000 and that total for the year has mounted to $483,200.

Permits were issued to Elmer Wolfinger for a $16,000 addition to the DX home at Linda street, to Robert Etika for a $16,000 home at 212 Wilbur street, to Louis Vandenberg for a $14,000 home on Linda street and to Leona Krueger for a $20,000 home at 228 Linda street.

Other permits that were issued included three additions to cost an estimated $9,500 and three garages to cost $2,150.

The Brooks Oil company was issued a permit to build a Service station on Kimberly avenue.

Let Nature be Your Guide in This Instance

Waterside Planting Presents Certain Special Problems

BY GEORGE E. CREED

Not all of us are fortunate enough to live by the side of a running stream or have a house built near a lake or pond. But if you are one of the lucky ones you may be confronted with the problem of choosing plants best suited for naturalistic waterside planting.

Since there are many desirable trees and shrubs well adapted to environments more than normally moist, it is a waste of time and money to plant those which cannot thrive under these conditions. Nature, of course, does the best job of planting along river banks and on lake shores. The next time you visit a lake, pond or stream bordered with lush vegetation, note the types that flourish there. You will find such trees as: Willows, alders, red maples, pin oaks, swamp white oaks, arbutus, birches and poplars. Among the shrubby growth you will see buttonbushes, dogwoods in variety, Jersey teas, wild roses, arrowwoods, winterberries and elderberries.

Duplicate Nature

You can't hope to duplicate nature. But you can establish a naturalistic effect along the shore by planting some of the things that would grow naturally there by themselves. By doing this you can put the plants where they will fit into arrangements best adapted to your particular needs. Nature will eventually do the job for you, but without regard for these requirements.

The accompanying sketch and plan show a planting created so as to relate to a view from a terrace. Composed of plants naturally adapted to waterside planting, they are arranged in such a manner as to fit particular needs.

Zingsheim Calls Catlin, GOP Candidates 'Liars'

Attacks Law Forbidding Labor Union Contributions to Political Campaigns

Dick Zingsheim, Democratic assembly candidate in the First district of Outagamie county, called the GOP speakers at a meeting of the Outagamie Federation of Republican Women the "largest group of political liars assembled before any one group in a long time." He talked before the Appleton Building Trades council last night.

He specifically attacked his Republican opponent, Mark Catlin, one of the speakers, but included Roland Steinle, senate candidate, and Congressman John W. Byrnes.

Catlin could not be reached for comment.

Zingsheim said he had intended in his campaign that he "wouldn't lower myself to the level of the Republican candidates" . . . but . . . "I have found issues get no ink in the Post-Crescent, therefore I must descend."

Catlin, in a talk before the GOP women, had accused Democrats of having ties with labor bosses and said a Pro-mire-for-Senator club had received $1,000 from officials of firemen said.

the Communications Workers of America, Washington, D. C. and that a Nelson-for-Governor club had received another $1,300 from U. S. Steel workers of Pittsburgh.

Zingsheim attacked a Catlin law forbidding labor unions to contribute to political campaigns.

He added: "Catlin did not tell about the source of funds for Republican candidates. It is easy to distort the truth — Catlin is good at things like this."

He admitted it is true there are a few questionable characters in labor unions but "it is not also true the same type of person is present in politics?"

Two youths escaped serious injury early this morning when their car missed a curve on County Trunk Z three miles east of Kaukauna and rolled over.

The car, driven by Leo Faust, 16, 611 Desnoyer street, Kaukauna, was going east when it failed to make a curve, skidded about 300 feet, traveled 233 feet in the ditch and rolled over on its top in a field.

The second youth, Michael Landerman, 16, 426 Brill street, received a bump on the head. Faust told county police he was going about 60 miles an hour when Landerman shouted "Lookout for the curve" and grabbed the wheel. Faust said he was familiar with the road. The boys were duck hunting. Damage was estimated at $500.

A car driven by James R. Skenandore, 54, route 1, Oneida, went out of control and rolled over at the intersection of Highways 55 and 54 in Seymour about 1:45 p.m. Thursday. Skenandore was going east on Highway 54. He told police a truck pulled out in front of him, causing him to lose control. He was unhurt.

FWD Initiates $1 Million Pension Plan

Retirement Program To Cover Firm's 1,000 Employees

Clintonville — The Four Wheel Drive Auto company has started a retirement pension plan for its 1,000 employees, according to James A. Driessen, executive vice president.

FWD will pay more than $1,000,000 into a pension trust fund to cover past credited service, in addition to the current and future costs of the plan, Driessen said.

The plan was agreed upon in negotiations between the company and local 815 of the A.I.W.-AFL-CIO Allied Industrial Workers, which represents FWD's 664 hourly paid employees. The company also will extend the plan to its approximately 350 staff and monthly salaried employees.

Driessen said the plan is designed to supplement federal social security benefits.

Urge Extension Of Huber Law In Wisconsin

Special Committee
Makes Study
For '59 Legislature

Application of the Huber law should be extended to include prisoners jailed for ordinance violations as well as criminal violations, a special subcommittee of the Citizen's Advisory committee to the state department of public welfare has decided.

The subcommittee, headed by Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmieg, met in Appleton to study Huber law problems and make recommendations which will be submitted to the 1959 legislature.

Included on the committee were Fred Goff, Dane county sheriff; R. A. Holzhauser, Marquette university guidance center; G. M. Parker, division of corrections in Madison; William Platz, assistant attorney general, Madison; M. E. Wyrick, executive secretary of the Wisconsin Sheriff's association, Milwaukee; and Sanger Powers, head of the division of corrections, Madison. Dr. Marshall B. Clinard, professor of sociology at the University of Wisconsin, is presently in India and was not present.

The subcommittee agreed that the Huber law has proven beneficial and results in substantial savings to the taxpayer as well as assisting in the rehabilitation of the prisoner. It also recommended extension of the law to include youths attending school.

The present law making it mandatory to place all prisoners under the Huber law unless actual confinement is ordered by the court should be changed, the committee agreed. They felt all prisoners should be sentenced to actual confinement unless authorized by the court to work out of jail. This would give the court an opportunity to screen deserving prisoners. However, the group said any prisoner should be able to petition the court to be placed under the Huber law.

All prisoners should be automatically granted time off their sentences for good behavior. However, the sheriff should have authority to rescind good behavior time for rules infractions, the committee recommended. It was felt this would provide better discipline.

Other Recommendations
The committee also recommended the court be given control of the disbursement of the earnings of a Huber law prisoner. This would require rewriting the law.

Other recommendations included: Having the court specify the amount to be paid dependents for support when sentencing an offender under the Huber law.

Continuing the power of the county boards to set Huber law board rates.

Establishing a substantially uniform system that would make allowances for larger counties.

Making the law more definite as to what county has authority to distribute the earnings of a prisoner when a transfer is made to another county.

Why I Work for Red Fe...er...

This is another in a series of articles written by volunteer workers in the 1958 Community fund drive. Each person tells why he volunteered to work in the $136,132 campaign. Douglas Mann, route 1, Menasha, drive chairman, speaks here.

There is no doubt that everyone who works for the Appleton Community Fund does so because he believes in its purpose and its needs. There is a great satisfaction in being a part of such a large, dedicated group which is growing at the same pace as our growing community.

It is inspiring to work with 1,200 public spirited Appleton citizens who are joined together in a common effort to support the all community-wide eight agency activity.

11 Named Semifinalists In Exam Race

All wrote an examination last spring to qualify as semifinalists. They now face a hour examination to be given Dec. 6.

Rain Is Expected Tonight in the southern New England states and most of the area from southern New Jersey and southeastern Pennsylvania through the middle and south Atlantic states. It will be cooler in the coastal portion of the northwest and warmer in the far southwest.

Clouds Hold Hint of Rain In Wisconsin

Cloudy skies and more moderate temperatures moved into the Fox Cities today as weathermen came through with a prediction that readings for the next five days will range from two to five degrees above normal.

Highest reading in Appleton Thursday was an even 60 degrees while the overnight low was 51. The temperature shortly after 10 a.m. today was 56.

Showers were expected to overspread most of the state by late evening.

The normal maximum for this time of year is 58 to 60 north and 64 to 68 south. Normal minimums are 41 to 45 north and 45 to 48 south.

It should be warmer Saturday, turning a little cooler Sunday and Monday and warm up again Tuesday and Wednesday. Precipitation will average .1 to .3 of an inch north and little if any south.

Although temperatures were much higher in the cool belt this morning than for the last couple of days, it still was fairly chilly, especially in northeast areas.

Coeds Round the World Like Clothes, Dates, Traveller Finds

BY DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor

From Brussels to Bombay, and from Bangkok to Hong Kong, college girls speak the same language, says Betsy Talbot Blackwell, New York magazine editor just back from a 2-week trip around the world.

"At Sofia college in Bombay, at Chulalongkorn university in Bangkok and at the International Christian university in Tokyo the coeds knew all about the latest fashion trends from Paris, and were wildly interested in the question of the new skirt length," says Mrs. Blackwell.

"Even in places where they wore native dress, they kept up to the minute on western fashions. Their next interests appeared to be dates and careers, in that order. Just like Vassar or Skidmore."

Attended Paris Openings The globe-trotting Mrs. Blackwell started her recent breakneck excursion after attending the fall openings in Paris and speaking to representatives of 42 nations in the U.S. pavilion at the Brussels World's fair.

"I had promised to visit colleges in Bombay and Bangkok, and I had business in Tokyo, so I just decided to keep

The Rev. M. H. Clausen officiated at the ceremony held at St. Paul Lutheran church, route 2, Shawano.

What Makes Woman Happy? Man Answers

London.—What makes a woman happy?

The question was posed at Britain's "Women of the Year" luncheon here Thursday.

"Marrying a fine man," said Lady Attlee, wife of Britain's former Laborite prime minister.

Answers Differ "Giving and receiving," said Ballerina Beryl Grey.

Hospital matron Marjorie Marriott thought "Love of fellow men and women, work and the spirit of life."

But most agreed with comedienne Joyce Grenfell—"Taking off my girle at the end of the day."

Harvey Pierre Post Presents U. S. Flag To Brownie Troop

Mrs. Paul Volpe, leader of Brownie troop 292, received an American flag on behalf of the troop from Mrs. Harold P. Krueger, patriotic instructor of the Harvey Pierre Post 2778 Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary.

The presentation was made at the Wednesday afternoon troop meeting at McKinley school. President of the auxiliary, Mrs. Edward Kies, was present at the ceremony.

The Brownies reviewed the history of the flag, the proper respect due to it and the salute to the flag.

Priest Speaks

The Rev. Raymond Conard, Hollandtown, spoke at the regular meeting of the Third Order of St. Norbert at the Catholic club Oct. 1. It was the first meeting of the new season.

Mrs. Mazemke

tonville, and Miss Alice Piehl, Green Bay.

A brother of the bride, Lavell Mehlhorn, route 3, Shawano, was best man. Groomsmen were Mr. Barz and Thomas O'Brien, Shawano. Ushers were Raymond Mazemke, Milwaukee, and Gary Wendorf, route 3, Shawano.

A wedding supper was served at Community hall, followed by a reception.

The young people are graduates of Shawano High school. The bride is employed by Shawano Mutual Insurance company and the bridegroom is employed by Mac's Oil company, Shawano.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to northern Wisconsin, the couple will live at 217 W. Division street, Shawano.

Bangkok, for instance, there are 4,500 students at the university, 2,000 of them girls. I found about the same proportion in all the colleges I visited.

Western dress is the rule for coeds throughout most of the Orient, says Mrs. Blackwell, although in India some of the students wear the sari, and in Hong Kong the native Chinese Chung Sam dress—the traditional and beautiful oriental sheath—is more usual.

"In Bangkok the girls all wear American style cotton dresses," she says. "The only difference I noted was that they don't wear shoes indoors—but they all wear nylons, and they all know about the new Dior silhouette."

Teenagers Polite "When I arrived at the Osaka airport in Japan, the first thing I saw was a television set tuned to 'I Love Lucy,' with Japanese subtitles."

In most of the countries she visited, Mrs. Blackwell found teenagers polite, well-behaved and well-disciplined.

"In Thailand, girls usually don't start dating until they are 18," says she, "and they don't marry until they are 24 or 25. They say they want to enjoy their new freedom, which they feel will be curtailed after marriage."

"Only in Japan did I find any evidence of a juvenile delinquency problem. There they seem to have followed the American trend, even in this respect. After centuries of strict discipline and complete obedience to parental control, some of the young people are rebelling and demanding the right to choose their own mates and run their own lives."

Our Children Wonderful World of Fantasy for Young Child

BY ANGELO PATRI

There are many parents in the younger generation who are ambitious for their children to succeed in the material meaning of the term.

Why not? We must live in a material world so material success is essential—but there are limits to that sort of life and wise parents recognize that, and while preparing their children for material success make a point of accentuating their spiritual preparation as well. They remember that men do not live by bread alone.

Now and then we meet a parent so eager to start a child on his road to glory and power that he starts almost as soon as the child is out of his crib to prepare him for his role of topman.

Said one, "I believe that a child who can understand the Three Bears can understand a more educational book so I am looking for one dealing with science for him." That parent could not do more to ruin his hopes for the child than to do just that; take away his fairy story and substitute his science book.

Children of the early years of childhood have no use for science. They live in a child's world inhabited by creatures who do magical, fantastic things like climbing beanstalks and riding in pumpkin-shell coaches that are turned into royal equipage. Bears talk; so do dogs. Fairies grant wishes and carpets fly through the sky.

These little ones to whom such stories are pure delight do not understand them. They do not try to. No such thought enters their minds for the solid reason that their minds are not yet ready for understanding. That must come later, much later, when the child begins to compare, make choices, decisions and judgments. These are elements of reason, a quality of mind that is not present, nor can it be

In Good Taste

Better if Infant Kept At Home

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: My fiancée has a cousin who has a year-old child. She and her husband have been invited to our wedding and reception. I understand that they are planning to take their child with them as they cannot get a baby sitter. I do not think an infant has any place at a wedding reception, and if they cannot get someone to look after the child they should stay home. My fiancée thinks I am being very unreasonable and that if they are willing to put up with the child, they should be allowed to take her. I would very much like your opinion on this.

Answer: I agree with you. A year-old child should not be taken to a wedding, program; Charles Klucker, but if your fiancée's cousin really cannot find anyone with whom they can leave their child, you cannot bar them at the door, and it will be up to them to keep the child quiet and not annoy any of the other guests.

No Money

Dear Mrs. Post: Please settle an argument! A friend of mine (whose family always do it) says that it is quite proper to give money to a bereaved family instead of flowers. The bereaved are not kin or very close friends but acquaintances of long standing or neighbors. I contend that this is in very bad taste and insulting to the family. I would like your opinion.

Answer: I absolutely agree with you. In fact it is difficult to imagine anything in worse taste.

Thanks, But No Gift

Dear Mrs. Post: A lawyer friend recently handled the estate of my father. His fee was considerably less than he would normally receive. I would like to express my appreciation in some way. Would it be proper for me to send him a gift, and, if so, what would you suggest?

Answer: No, don't send him a gift. You must, however, express real appreciation for what he did for you and thank him sincerely.

This course of literature is basic to reading readiness. The well-trained kindergarten teacher will use it. She understands that this phase of the children's lives must be fed so that it provides a rich base for the next step toward development—childhood. And that phase, too, must be recognized and nurtured that it, in turn, may nourish the next.

Members of the executive board of the newly-formed St. Elizabeth hospital auxiliary will hold their first meeting Tuesday evening at the hospital. Prior to the assembly, Miss Helen McGrath, auxiliary president, will entertain after the child they should stay home. ## Finger Tips

To overcome splitting or peeling nails, follow these do's and don'ts:

Do use a polish remover containing oil or other conditioners.

Don't soak or scrub nails before filing, as it temporarily weakens them. Save the clean-up until afterwards.

Do shape nails with emery boards, for their action is gentle.

Don't file away corners of nails. Sawing them off causes fray, like cutting off the selvage of material. To avoid it, never insert emery between nail and flesh at sides.

Do test for invisible snags after filing by running nails over a scrap of stocking. Catch a snag and you prevent a split!

Don't ignore a split, should it develop. Patch it at once and save damage spread.

Do buff the nails before applying polish at manicure time. This stimulates growth and strength.

Don't abuse your nails—untie package cords with scissors points instead of nail points, for instance.

Do heed all of this advice, and you will soon find new loveliness at your finger tips.

Jackie Gleason Back On Television Tonight

Sammy Davis, Jr., Takes First Dramatic Role Sunday in 'GE Theater' GI Story

BY JINGO
Jackie Gleason returns to WBAY-TV tonight with burlesque Buddy Hackett as his sidekick. Art Carney, Audrey Meadows and Jack Benny will be guests on later shows. Sammy Davis, Jr., makes his dramatic debut on the same station in the "GE Theater" Sunday night story, "Auf Wiedersehen." It's about a GI who can't convince a lonely Negro war orphan that he's not the boy's papa.

Davis, a star singer, dancer, comedian and impressionist, hankers after western roles and has producers of "Wagon Train," "Wanted—Dead or Alive" and "Zane Grey Theater" looking for parts for him.

John Russell, a villain in last week's "Maverick" episode, comes on at 7:30 p.m. Sunday on WFRV-TV cast as the lily pure hero of "Lawman," a new western series. The premiere has he and deputy looking for the previous marshal's killer. You may remember Russell also as star of the old series "Soldiers of Fortune."

Shirley Temple has "Hiawatha" booked for her "Storybook" telecast Sunday night at WMBV-TV and WTMJ-TV. Featured will be J. Carrol Naish and John Erickson.

"Colt 45," the only Warner Brothers series that failed to hit high ratings last year, has not been let out for syndication to individual stations. It returns to ABC-TV Sunday night, with Wayne Preston again as Chris Colt. WFRV-TV, however, won't carry it because of the early movie.

Dinah Shore will be joined by an all-star cast when she returns for her second season Sunday night on WMBV-TV and WTMJ-TV. These include Louis Jourdan, Burl Ives, Art Carney and Gwen Verdon.

Polly Bergen stars as a young widow in the premiere story of "Lux Playhouse" tonight on WBAY-TV. The show shares its time spot with "Schlitz Playhouse."

Alfred Hitchcock and Loretta Young bring new stories to their Sunday night series on WBAY-TV and the NBC-TV channels.

Jingo's Jewels: WFRV-TV's Al Loomer is in Minneapolis today and Saturday showing national advertising managers how weather shows are put together. "Robin Hood" moves to Saturday. John Russell mornings tomorrow on WBAY-TV. Singers Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme and The Columnist Abby Van Buren are guests on "Person to Person" tonight. "The Lone Ranger" comes on later in the afternoon on WBAY-TV starting Saturday.

Lon Costello has purchased rights to "It Pays to be Ignorant," the old radio series, and plans to bring it to TV with himself at the controls. Dick Powell is preparing a new TV series for David Janssen of the defunct "Richard Diamond" episodes. Janssen would be a court reporter. Victor Borge is set for a "GE Theater" story later in the season. A producer is readying a series based on the children's book "Black Beauty."

A video tape of a football game's first half highlights was run off last week during CBS-TV's regional coverage of the pro Giants-Cards game. It'll be tried elsewhere around the league in experiments. Highlights came on shortly after the players left the field. Lawrence college Sunday inaugurates another season of movie masterpieces from around the world. Kick-off show is "The Captain's Paradise." Others include award winners "Rashomon" from Japan, "On the Bowery" from Britain and "Farrebrigue" from France. Show times at 1:30, 3:30, 6:30 and 8:30 p. m.

TV Quiz Show Subject of First Novel

Ad Executive Author of Book, 'Hot Half Hour'

BY CHARLES MERCER
New York —(P)— Many a person in television says he'd like to write a novel about this brave new entertainment world if only he had the time. Now one of the most influential men in TV programming has taken the time and produced a novel.

He is Robert L. Foreman and his novel, published by Criterion, is entitled "The Hot Half Hour." As a vice president of the large advertising agency of Batten, Barton, Durstine and Osborn, Foreman reputedly breathes life and signs death warrants on more TV programs than practically anyone along Madison avenue.

As the author of "The Hot Half Hour," Foreman is rather shy about his first novel. He's no Tolstoy or Stendahl, but he has written entertainingly and with brevity about a business he knows thoroughly.

On TV Quiz Show Although the book concerns a TV quiz show, it was finished long before the current probe of quiz programs.

"I've always wanted to write a novel," he said, "and it began to look as if I never would. Then, last December, I sat down and wrote two chapters. No, I don't have the vaguest idea what started me. But I showed it to a lawyer friend of mine, a very smart guy, and he showed it to Criterion.

"I wasn't angry about anything when I wrote the book. I had no particular people in mind for my characters—and no particular show in mind. There's no cheating on the quiz show in my novel because I've known something about the workings of a lot of quiz shows—and none of them cheated.

"It was fun to write this story and if readers find fun in it, I'm satisfied."

Crosby Dinner Belies Rumor Of Discord

BY BOB THOMAS

Hollywood—(P)— This week the entire Crosby clan gathered for a dinner to honor son Phillip and his bride, Las Vegas showgirl Sandra Drummond. There was a feast at the family mansion and the celebration seemed to belie reports of discord among Bing and his boys. "She's a very sweet girl," Bing said of his new daughter-in-law. "She's got a good head on her shoulders and she doesn't drink or smoke."

Papa Crosby admitted that he was surprised that his four older boys appear headed for show biz careers. "I knew Gary would probably try it, but I thought I had the other three headed in on rules usually require em-different directions," he said. "The twins (Phillip and Den-n) looked as though they side of the Atlantic."

might take over the Elko (Nev.) ranch. But I guess they got too close to it. They spent their summers up there working hard and I suppose the ranching life lost its glamor for them.

"I suppose it's only natural they would be going into show business. After all, their mother (Dixie Lee) and father were in it, and all our friends were, too."

It's a little early to tell about Harry, Jr., but his proud papa said that the tyke is doing his vocalizing regularly. "It's good for him, I guess," said Bing.

All-American Cast In London Showing Of 'West Side Story'

New York —(P)— The London production of "West Side Story" is to have an entirely American cast, because of its special idiomatic flavor. Un-had the other three headed in on rules usually require em-different directions," he said. "The twins (Phillip and Den-n) looked as though they side of the Atlantic."

State to Test Contents of Station Tanks

Seek Possible Cause of Fatal Fire, Explosion

Neenah — Samples from three underground gasoline tanks and a fuel oil tank at the Gary Carew service station, Winneconne avenue and Harrison street, are being checked for any connection with the explosion and flash fire that fatally burned David Carew, 26, 1235 Maple street, Wednesday night.

Fire Chief John Zick said the samples were taken by M. H. VanderHyden, of the division of petroleum products of the state department of taxation.

A study will be made to see if anything in the fuel oil tank had a lower flash rating than that of fuel oil.

The garage heating system and boiler vents also are being checked. The heating system was undergoing repairs the day of the explosion.

Make-Up For Eyes Is Vital

Neenah — The most vital aspect of any woman's make-up plan is application of eye cosmetics. Men, and women, too, are sensitive to ineptly applied make-up which creates the wrong impression.

Start out by brushing eyebrows into shape. Of course the eyebrows must be kept neat by frequent plucking. If the mascara brush is kept completely clean, it may be effective. If not, use a special brush.

Next, apply a line close to the upper lashes with mascara or an eye-liner pencil in the desired shade. Green, blue, black and hues of brown are available to match all types of facial coloring. A water-color brush, very thin, is an excellent applicator.

Apply eye-shadow by dabbing a little in the palm of the hand, then smoothing along the upper lid with the little finger. This should never extend closer than half an inch from the hairline. This rule applies to eyebrow pencil, too.

Finally, dampen the mascara brush and apply the mascara to the upper lashes with particular emphasis on the outer corner of lashes.

Other programs are scheduled Oct. 15 in the Winchester area at Grace Lutheran church, Winchester; Oct. 16 in the Neenah area at Tower school; and Oct. 20 at Omro High school. Discussions begin at 8 p.m.

Neenah Gridders Vie With Two Rivers; Honor Parents

Rockets Try to Start New Win Chain; Four Backs Out

Neenah — Three years ago Neenah defeated Two Rivers to launch a winning string that reached 19 games before being snapped by last week's 7-7 tie with Clintonville.

Saturday afternoon the Rockets will try to start another chain and Two Rivers again is the opponent. Game time is 2:30 (half hour later than usual) for the parents' day contest.

The Rockets are far from being in good physical shape. Fullback Dick Wilson, Left Halfbacks Jim Hensen and Jon Laffin and Right Halfback Pete Millar will not play.

Ellis Returns
Gary Ellis, right halfback who missed the Clintonville game, will be back and is expected to start. With Ellis' return, Sophomore Bill Fahrrenkrug will be back at fullback. Arnold Peterson, a senior is the likely starting left halfback. Peterson is out for football for the first time this year. Because of injuries to the other boys, he was forced to start at Clintonville last week with only one quarter of game experience.

To bolster the thin halfback corps, Coach Marlon Batterman has shifted Herb Schmick, a defensive guard, and Mike Lintner, the No. 3 quarterback, to ball carrying positions. Gary Halle, a junior, missed the first three weeks of practice and may see some action. He ran well in Monday's Jayvee win over Kaukauna.

Post 0-3 Mark
Batterman may do some shifting in the line because Clintonville hit the tackle spots hard last week. Harlan Hirsch, senior tackle, who missed much practice last week because of illness, is expected to be back in form.

Two Rivers hasn't been any ball of fire in its first three games but it has the potential, on paper at least, to be a good ball club. The Raiders still are looking for their first touchdown. Their opponents, Kaukauna, Menasha and Manitowoc, all made three touchdowns.

New System
Coach Floyd Dietz has been experimenting with a single wing along with the T-formation and the boys haven't been able to adapt themselves to the new system effectively.

The line is big and experienced but the squad appears to lack the leadership that departed with graduation of quarterback Ron Brault.

End Dale Kozlowski, Tackle Gene Panosh, Guard Gene Ankam, Center Bob Klinkner and Backs Todd Easley, Lee Oestrich and Emory Panosh started or saw first line service action in the Raiders' 41-0 loss to the Rockets last fall.

Denmark High Trips Wolves

Keith Larsen Scores All Points In 13-0 Victory

Neenah — Keith Larsen scored all 13 points as Denmark blanked Winneconne, 13-0, in a Little Nine conference football game here Thursday night.

Halfback Larsen blasted off tackle for 16 yards and a first TD and then ran for the extra point. In the fourth quarter he again sliced off tackle for a score, this time from two yards out. He fumbled on the attempted try for the conversion.

The Vikings were evening their record at 2-2 in league play. That's the same mark as Winneconne has.

Winneconne reached the Denmark 20 in the third quarter but fumbled to ruin the Wolves' furthest penetration of the night. The Danes drove to the Winneconne 5-yard line without scoring at one other point in the game.

Tackle Lloyd Pantzlaff shone on defense for the winners.

The course is approximately two miles.

The Rocket harriers defeated Appleton, 23-32, in their first outing Tuesday afternoon on the Terror course.

Jim Quade placed second. Paul Poellinger third and Tom Drews fourth to give the Rockets three of the top five finishers.

Coach Ole Jorgensen is expected to pick his eight starters from Quade, Poellinger, Drews, Jerv Schaefer, Ralph Frank, John Reuss, Dave Heller, Bob Haas, Dennis Coleman and Doug Wolterding.

Raiders Seek First Victory Over Rockets

Two Rivers Hasn't Beaten NHS Since Entering League

Neenah — When Neenah and Two Rivers meet at the Neenah field Saturday afternoon, the Raiders will be looking for their first victory over the Twin Cities since entering the Mid-Eastern conference in 1950.

The "Cool city" entry hasn't come closer than two touchdowns since 1951 and took one-sided beatings the last two seasons.

Last fall the rockets took advantage of two fumbles and an intercepted pass to build up a 28-0 margin at halftime. Ed Meyer tallied the first four scores on runs of two, nine and 24 yards and on 50-yard pass play.

The previous fall the Rockets couldn't do anything wrong either and registered 40 points in the first half on their way to a 47-12 win.

Tom Wiesner, currently the No. 2 fullback at Wisconsin, and Dave Thomsen, a freshman at Lawrence, each scored twice.

Wiesner rambled for 127 of the 305 yards the Rockets made on the ground. Scoring on long runs, the Rockets took a 27-6 win in the final game of the 1955 season. That victory started them on the road to 19 straight wins, a chain snapped by the 7-7 tie at Clintonville last weekend.

Other recent wins included 27-13 in 1954 after Two Rivers built up a 13-0 lead. 26-13 in 1953, 21-0 in 1952, 9-6 in 1951 and 44-13 in 1950. Dick Rine's field goal was the margin in the '51 encounter.

The Raiders did better in tangles with the Rockets before entering the Mid-Eastern circuit. They copped non-league encounters in 1947 and 1948 and had a 3-2 edge when both clubs were members of the old Northeastern Wisconsin conference.

Loppnow finished with a 623 series to slam honors in the K-C wheel. Other high series included Ray DeRoche, 573, Dick Platt 574, Russ Menning 573, Art Kober 572 and Jim Sherman 557.

Woodlands leads the league with a 10-2. It has a 2-game edge over its nearest challenger.

Jacobson's Winchester league total included games of 245 and 237. The 245 effort tied LeRoy Hallock for the night's high.

Robert Olson bowled 580, Milton Schultz 578 and Melvin Smith 235. Farmer State Bank is in first place with an 11-4 record.

"Peg" Meyer tumbled a 564 series and Bonnie LaCount jolted a 233 game to pave the way in the Thursday Afternoon Ladies league.

Menasha High Holds Edge in Clint Series

Bluejays Cop 22 Of 28, Including Last Two Matches

Menasha — Coach Carl Steffin's Menasha Bluejays own a big edge in their all-time football series with Clintonville going into tonight's clash at Butte des Morts field. Game time is 8 p.m. for the parents' night test.

Clintonville has beaten the Jays only once since 1950. In 1955 the Clints recorded an 18-0 blanking in the final game of the season. The all-time series shows 22 Menasha wins in 28 games.

The Bluejays came back to cop the 1956 renewal, 20-13, scoring the final seven points with about 50 seconds left.

First Down Edge
The Blue and White made it two straight last fall with a 19-0 triumph at Clintonville. Tom Stepanski scored twice and Dick Finch once. Menasha had a 13-3 first down edge and registered 265 yards on the ground to 71 for the Clints. Clintonville had a 60-18 yard passing advantage.

Menasha moved to 14-7 wins in 1953 and 1954, tallying in the final seconds on a long pass from John Hidde to Vic Stenson (now of Miami) in 1954.

In 1952, Steffin's first year, the Jays surprised their favored foes, 13-0, while Menasha's 1951 powerhouse notched a 27-7 win after being held to a 7-7 tie at halftime.

Jirschele Tallies 22
That win avenged the 46-6 reversal of 1950 when Don Jirschele scored 22 points. The Truckers had taken five straight from 1946-1950. Before that Menasha garnered 16 straight verdicts, the widest margin, 46-0, in 1942 and the narrowest 7-6 the next season.

Menasha now has a 2-1 record compared to 1-1-1 for the Truckers. The Jays have scored 27 points and allowed 12 (all by Appleton). Clintonville has chalked up 39 and given up 25.

Burdette Stars as Braves Take Prohibitive 2 to 0 Series Lead

Low Subdues Yanks 4th Time in Row

BY JOHN A. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor
Milwaukee — Hell has no fruy like a scored-on Lew Burdette.

The New York Yankees learned this bitter lesson here Thursday while absorbing a 13-5 World Series shellacking from the Braves and sinking into the quicksand of a 2 to 0 deficit in games.

The once-invincible Yanks paid for their audacity in ruining Burdette's bid for a consecutive scoreless-inning record with an unearned run in the very first frame.

An aroused Burdette laced a prodigious 3-run homer that capped a bombastic 7-run first inning, then restricted Yank batters to a mere seven hits for the fourth consecutive time.

"Bushville" Horrors

After the ordeal, eye-witnessed by 46,367 in County stadium and watched by millions more in TV-land, Casey Stengel shepherded his thoroughly-shaken flock back to the sanctity of Yankee stadium where they make their next stand Saturday afternoon.

And, while the passengers on the Yankees' plane were haunted by the horrors of "Bushville" — they've now lost four straight series games in Milwaukee — the sky-traveling Braves had more pleasurable subjects to contemplate. Such as what the fat end of the World Series boogie will buy.

While two games don't make a series, the Braves' future looks rosy, indeed. Only twice in history, has the winner of the first two games dropped the Series.

Staff Is Fresh

Besides that, the Braves' expected pitching edge has materialized. Back-to-back ace Warren Spahn and Burdette have pitched complete games, and the entire remainder of the staff is fresh and rarin' to go. The Yanks have paraded seven pitchers (five of them yesterday) and are still looking for a route performer.

Yesterday it was Burdette's turn as chief engineer on the Braves' current project: maintaining the Yanks' status as the second-best team in baseball. The fidgety one, '57 Series phenom, again was too much for the Yanks to handle. For eight innings, Burdette

Johnny Kucks Is Forced at second base in the third inning of the second game of the World Series Thursday. Braves second baseman "Red" Schoendienst, having retired the Yankee pitcher, is getting off a throw to first for a double play. The Braves dumped the Yankees, 13-5.

Burdette Pitches Same As He Did in '57 Series

'Why Should I Change?' Asks 2nd Game Winner

BY CHUCK CAPALDO
Milwaukee — "I pitched the same way against them as last year. Why should I change?"

The speaker was the Milwaukee Braves' Lew Burdette and he was referring, of course, to his continued World Series mastery over the New York Yankees.

Laughs Off Suggestions
As they say in the West Virginia mining country where Burdette comes from, he whupped 'em for fair Thursday for the fourth consecutive time as Milwaukee won, 13-5.

Only "Lefty" Gomez ever beat the same team four straight in World Series competition. He did it for the Yankees against the Giants in 1936-37.

Burdette laughs off suggestions that perhaps he has been using a secret weapon on the Yankees.

"I honestly don't know why I can beat them, or how for that matter," he said. "There's no reason that I know of."

He might have pointed out that the Yankees just don't seem to be able to cope with his assortment of breaking pitches — especially when he keeps them low.

The 31-year-old right-hander preferred to dwell on the 3-run homer he hit in the Braves' 7-run first inning, the Yankees' ninth-inning uprising and "the room."

Burdette denied that he let up in the ninth when Casey Stengel's athletes clipped him for four of their seven hits and three of their runs.

Not Intentionally
"I didn't let up intentionally, at any rate," he said. "I was just throwing strikes to get them out. Made 'em too good, I guess. Then I figured I better get them out. Things were getting rather binding out there."

Burdette and south paw Warren Spahn, who beat the Yanks Wednesday, room together when the Braves are on the road. They often refer to "the room" when talking about their combined accomplishments. Last spring they predicted 50 victories for "the room."

"This gives the room 44 victories," Burdette said. "Not bad, but it doesn't look like we'll hit 50. The series won't last that long."

Badgers Favored By at Least 3 TDs Over MU Saturday

Expect Over 50,000 for 1st Game in Enlarged UW Stadium

Madison — The state's top football rivalry will be renewed at Camp Randall here Saturday when the University of Wisconsin meets Marquette university in their thirty-fourth game.

As in most recent years, Wisconsin is favored to win by at least three touchdowns.

The Badgers hold a 29-4 edge in victories won and have won the last 14 in the series. The winning margin last year was 60-6.

Kickoff time has been changed from the usual 1:30 p. m. to 2:30 p. m. This was done so the baseball minded can watch the Milwaukee Braves-New York Yankee World Series game on television from New York.

Series starting time is 11 a. m. Wisconsin time, thus allowing the classic to be completed before the opening home game of the Badgers is begun.

Strong Defense

Wisconsin displayed a strong defense in its season opener when it beat Miami last Friday. The score was 20-0 with Coach Milt Bruhn in the enviable spot of having plenty of reserves who played as well as the mer they replaced.

Observers also agreed that the passing the Badgers exhibited against the Hurricanes was better than most of their aerial activity in the 1957 season.

Like the Badgers, Marquette has played one 1958 game. The Warriors beat South Dakota State, 18-7, and the manner in which they did it brought comments that Marquette would have one of its best teams in recent years.

Thus, with both teams apparently improved, and with probable good weather in the offing, plus the natural interest in the traditional rivalry, a crowd of some 50,000 to 55,000 is expected to be on hand at the enlarged Camp Randall stadium.

Same Starters

Bruhn is expected to stick pretty much with the lineup that started against Miami. This means eight major lettermen—four in the backfield and four in the line—in the starting spots. Sidney Williams is expected to get the starting quarterback assignment with Dale Hackbart replacing him from time to time.

Coach John Druze of Marquette reported his starters would include seven major letter winners with Pete Hall the quarterback starter.

Two Warriors who will miss the game because of injuries are fullback Jerry Lane and Ron Fieber. Lane has a broken finger. Fieber a fractured collar bone.

The only Badgers who will be sidelined for the contest will be Dewey Carl, a second team halfback, and George Chryst, a reserve guard.

Rush Expected To Start Third Tilt for Braves

Larson Seeks To Regain Yank Prestige Saturday

By Charles Chamberlain
Milwaukee — Manager Fred Haney of the Milwaukee Braves is a relatively quiet little strategist who seems to be getting a devilish delight in keeping Saturday's pitcher a secret.

But if it's not Bob Rush, the former hard luck right-hander of the Chicago Cubs who was 10-6 for the Braves this season, there will be a few raised eyebrows.

Casey Stengel already has named Don Larsen to try to retrieve Yankee prestige in the third game after New York dropped the first two.

With a twinkle in his eye, Haney has maintained a strict silence on his choice, avoiding all searching queries from newsmen as he departed Thursday night for New York.

Won't Be Trapped

"I'll make it official after our workout Friday afternoon," he said.

Haney also will not be trapped in saying anything detrimental about the Yankees. He is a great admirer and friend of Stengel's and this he respects on and off the field.

After Thursday's 13-5 clubbing the Braves gave New York, Haney took it with customary conservatism.

Parilli Will Miss Lion Tilt Sunday

Starr, Francis to Share Duties; Carmichael, Bettis Still Hurt

Green Bay — Injuries will keep Green Bay quarterback "Babe" Parilli out of Sunday's National Football league game between the Packers and the Detroit Lions.

Parilli was a casualty in last Sunday's loss to the Chicago Bears, suffering torn chest muscles when racked up by the Bears during the second half.

The decision to keep Parilli out of the Lion game was announced by Packer Coach Ray McLean, who said:

"Babe has been coming along real fine, but it hurts him when he passes. He would find it pretty rough out there."

The loss of Parilli means that the Packers will have available for quarterbacking duties only Bart Starr and rookie Joe Francis. Starr will start, with Francis around to give him a rest.

Also likely to miss the Detroit game are halfback Al Carmichael and linebacker Tom Bettis who sat out the Bear game because of injuries.

"We have a lot of little injuries," McLean said. "The Bears really did a job on us."

Given Rough Time

Both Packer and Lion quarterbacks were given a rough time by opposing linemen last Sunday. Detroit's Tobin Rote and Bobby Layne were tossed by Baltimore for a total loss of 54 yards trying to pass. The Packers' Starr and Parilli were dumped back 45 yards trying to throw against the Bears.

Not one of the quartet was able to complete 50 per cent of his passes. As a foursome, they hit on 23 of 54 tries (42.5 per cent) for 302 yards.

Here's how they fared — Layne: 7-for-17, 103 yards, one touchdown; Rote: 5-for-13, 60 yards, 1 TD; Parilli: 5-for-11, 61 yards, 0 TD; Starr: 6-for-13, 78 yards, 0 TD.

Fox Lutheran Will Play at Pacelli Tonight

The Fox Valley Lutheran High school football team makes its fourth try for its first win of the 1958 season when it visits Stevens Point Pacelli at 8 o'clock tonight.

The game was moved up to tonight from Saturday.

The Foxes have been outscored, 66-14, in losing to Wisconsin Lutheran. Coleman and Chilton thus far.

Braves Not Overconfident Though Odds Now Favor Them, 11 to 5

New York — Two up and two to go. But there is not a Milwaukee Brave who thinks it will be easy. "Two down and four to go, would call a rosy position," he said. "but this thing is not over by a long shot. Why only two years ago, we lost the first two to Brooklyn. I seem to remember that we won it at the end, didn't we? There's no law that says we can't do it again. You just never know about those things until they happen. Then you Yankees were confident they could turn the tables on the Braves, winning at least two out of the three in Yankee stadium."

The Yankees entered the series a 7-5 favorite. The odds, which now favor

Sooners, Army Test Offenses Again

Michigan State-Michigan Duel Promises Fireworks Aplenty

The defense phase of college football will get some stiff tests this weekend. Oklahoma and Army, who unveiled new, wide-open offenses that staggered opponents a week ago will be at it again Saturday.

Before all this comes about, though, Jim Tatum's winless (0-2) North Carolina Tar Heels meet Southern California tonight in Los Angeles. USC is 1-1 and a 6-point favorite.

Oklahoma, No. 1 team in the country, plays defense-minded Oregon. The Webfeet had a week to work on Coach Bud Wilkinson's new offensive concepts, and enter the game ranked No. 7 in defense.

Movies of the "bazooka formation" at West Point have been distributed to all Army's opponents, except Navy, and Penn State is the first to see if it can make Coach "Red" Blaik sorry for his generosity.

The fifth-ranked Cadets have that "lonesome end" (plays 18 yards from his tackle) that was greatly responsible for the 45-8 drubbing of South Carolina a week ago.

There will be all sorts of variations in the Cotton bowl when Notre Dame (No. 7) meshes its running and passing attacks against Southern Methodist (No. 18) and quarterback Don Meredith's great passing arm. The Irish have fullback Nick Pietrosante back for full-time service.

Fireworks aplenty are planned at Michigan State when the fourth-ranked Spartans use their multiple offense against neighbor and bitter rival Michigan in opening Big Ten conference game.

Get Variety Television viewers get a bit of variety too, when Washington State's ace passer Bob Newman goes against California's Joe Kapp, a split-T quarterback who is rated a better runner than passer. The game is scheduled over NBC-TV or as soon as the World Series is finished.

Third-ranked Ohio State's Buckeyes meet upset-minded Washington, a 24-21 victor over Minnesota last week. Second-ranked Auburn has more to lose than gain with its game against tony Chattanooga as does sixth-ranked Mississippi against Trinity of Texas.

Iowa (No. 8) ushers the Air Force academy into competition with the Big Ten. Wisconsin (No. 9) tests Marquette's 1 - game winning streak after it lost 19 in a row, and tenth-ranked Clemson plays Maryland in an Atlantic Coast conference game.

FOX VALLEY FRESHMAN LEAGUE

Kaukauna	1	1	0

Thursday's Results:
Wilson 28, Menasha 6
Roosevelt 20, Kimberly 6
Neenah 18, Kaukauna 0

Kaukauna — The Neenah High school frosh spoiled the home opener for the Junior Ghosts of Kaukauna High school Thursday, grinding out an 18 to 0 decision. The win put the Rockets alone in first place in the Fox Valley Freshman league.

Kaukauna was never really in the ballgame as the winners scored the first two times they had the ball and limited the losers to only one first down in the opening half, that coming on a penalty.

The Rockets' Dale Howe skirted out on a reverse to score from the Kaukauna 5 to score in the first quarter.

Kaukauna was unable to get a march underway and after the punt the Junior Rockets took over on their own 40-yard stripe. After losing a few yards, Joe Began broke loose for 63 yards and carried to the Kaukauna 7-yard stripe before being caught from behind by Jim Koepke. Began then went off tackle to score. The try for extra point failed to give Neenah a 12-0 lead about midway through the second quarter.

The winners tallied their final touchdown early in the second half marching from their own 35-yard stripe to score. Winn Zimmerman picked up 40 yards in the march before Koepke again caught him from behind and Began went over.

Kaukauna never penetrated farther than the Neenah 20-yard stripe.

Jays Blanked, 28 to 0

Menasha — Wilson scored once in every quarter to defeat Menasha 28-0 in their Valley Freshman league game here Thursday afternoon. The winners have a 2-0 to the Jays' 0-2.

Bob Paessler went 17 yards for the initial touchdown and Tom Wenneman carried over the extra point. Paessler tallied from the 1-foot line in the second period. A pass from Dick Harder to Tom Wenneman netted the point.

Wenneman went around end for the third period score and Paessler tallied from the 12 in the final frame. Wenneman ran for both extra points. Menasha got inside the Wilson 15 twice and had one touchdown nullified by a penalty.

Kimberly Loses, 39-6

Defending champion Roosevelt scored three touchdowns in the first nine minutes and went on to route Kimberly 39-6, in a Fox Valley Freshman league game on the winners' field Thursday afternoon.

Halfback Dave Emerich ran for two touchdowns and passed for another.

He ran a punt back 70 yards for the winners' first TD. Then Roosevelt recovered a Kimberly fumble and, four plays later, fullback Cary Anderson blasted over from 38 yards out. The third first

Time Out with Mike Dixon

I ran into Phil Seghi, former manager of the Green Bay Bluejays of the Wisconsin State league, at the World Series earlier this week and Phil told this story about him and Ryne Duren.

Seghi, now farm director of the Cincinnati Redlegs, was playing-manager of the Bluejays in 1949 when Duren was in his first season in organized ball, with the Wausau Lumberjacks.

Duren, of course, is the possessor of one of the game's greatest fast balls as a star relief pitcher for the New York Yankees. He was blindingly fast even then, and very wild.

"We were trailing Wausau by a real big score in the last of the ninth with two out with Duren pitching for them in a 1949 game and I was the on-deck batter," remembers Phil.

"He was wilder and faster than usual that night and I didn't want any part of him. You can be sure I was not giving the batter any 'take' signs.

"Our hitter struck out to end the game and I turned around and shoved my bat in the bat rack, all the time muttering — loud enough so my players in the dugout could hear — 'Damn it, I wish I'd had a chance to swing against him.' What a lie that was!"

Duren, incidentally, is the brother-in-law of Pat Collins, the girls' physical education instructor at Appleton's Wilson school. Ryne married Pat's sister, Beverly, ten years ago when he was 19.

Duren, who was born in Cazenovia, Wis., now lives in Texas, in the off-season.

Seghi, incidentally, is casting interested glances at the Three-I league. The Redlegs are considering making a switch from their Wenatchee franchise in the Class B Northwest league and Phil likes the Three-I.

Seghi said that he thinks the Fox Cities is a good Class B baseball area and that he likes the men on the Fox Cities Foxes' board of directors. He added that he had heard praise for Bob Willis, business manager of the Foxes.

The Redleg farms at the "B" level and below had good seasons this year, Seghi revealed. The Wenatchee and Visalia (C) clubs owned particularly satisfactory records.

The Foxes' Carlos "Potato" Pascual, the Three-I league's 1958 batting champion, has signed for the 1959 winter season with the Almendares club in the Cuban league.

Pascual wished to be remembered to his many friends in the Fox Cities and to "tell everyone that I am very grateful for the things they did for me during the past season."

The Almendares' club's season begins Tuesday and the team has games every day but Mondays, until February against the Chicago Cubs in 1959.

Burdette's Homer Is 1st He's Ever Hit in County Stadium

By The Associated Press

When Lew Burdette found the home run range in Thursday's second game of the World Series, it was his first round-tripper in Milwaukee's County stadium. Burdette had hit five homers previously but all had been on the road. Three were at the Los Angeles coliseum this season and two at Cincinnati's Crosley field in 1957.

"Red" Schoendienst, Murray Dickson and Enos Slaughter appeared in the same game to stir up some memories of the 1946 series. All three were members of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals that year.

The New York Yankees were the last previous team to score seven runs in an inning in series competition. They achieved the feat in the sixth inning of the first game of the 1937 series against the New York Giants en route to an 8-1 victory.

Don Larsen, studying the Braves batsmen from the bench, was asked if he had learned anything about Milwaukee. "Nothing I didn't already know," replied the big right-hander, who pitches the third game for New York Saturday.

Hitting two homers in a game is nothing new for Mantle. The Yanks' switcher turned the trick three other times in 1958.

The slugging Braves are hitting .329 as a team for the two games. The highest bat-

Odegard Paces Eau Claire '11' To 12-8 Win

Stevens Point Hands Oshkosh 1st Loss, 21-20

By The Associated Press
Stevens Point edged Oshkosh, 21-20, and Eau Claire beat La Crosse, 12-8, Thursday night and remained undefeated in State College conference football action.

The victory was the second straight for Eau Claire which came from behind on the play of Appleton quarterback Dick Odegard who passed 27 yards to Bill Perkins for a second quarter score and dashed 63 yards for the touchdown that decided the game in the final period.

3rd Triumph

The Pointers, who were involved in a tie, posted their third victory. Oshkosh has a 2-1 record. Stevens Point salted the game away with a pair, in 34 runs, compared with 6 second quarter touchdowns. Dick's 32.

Orioles Get Carrasquel From KC

Milwaukee — (U) — Oriole Manager Paul Richards, a proven master at reclaiming pitchers other clubs gave up on, is now trying his hand at salvaging shortstops.

The Baltimore skipper announced Thursday night he had traded Dick Williams to Kansas City for "Chico" Carrasquel.

Williams hit .279 in 136 games for the Orioles this year while playing all outfield positions, first and third base.

Carrasquel, traded to Kansas City by Cleveland last spring, hit .234 while handling shortstop and third base chores. With almost 100 fewer times at bat than Williams, he drove in 34 runs, compared with 62 second quarter touchdowns. Dick's 32.

The New York Yankees Got another look at No. 33 Thursday, and the results were all bad again. The Braves' Lew Burdette, shown delivering during the second World Series game, beat the Yanks for the fourth straight time in two fall classics.

Burdette Homers, Gives 7 Hits in 13-5 Win

by swatting a 3-2 pitch from Bob Turley halfway up into the right field bleachers.

Lankey Lew had exemplified control (walking only one, and that intentional), struck Aaron, Covington whacked a 3-2 ball out of McDougald's reach for the hit that scored three runs and cross fires into the dirt. The Braves had only two outfield putouts in the first six innings.

Retires 15 in Row
Burdette attained the peak of excellence between the fourth and eighth innings, when he retired 15 men in a row.

Burdette's colleagues backed up his pitching and his homer with 14 other safe blows—and scored at least once against each of the Yank twirlers.

Billy Bruton, high on everyone's list of "nice guy" Braves, continues to be the hitting surprise of the Series. The erstwhile convalescent clubbed a homer and two singles yesterday for an overall 4-for-6 mark.

Wes Covington, another hospital alumnus, slashed three singles; "Red" Schoendienst doubled twice—and so it went. Del Crandall, alone, of the starters, failed to connect.

Burdette, who had shut out the Yanks in his final 24 innings of the '57 series, went into action needing six straight scoreless frames to exceed "Babe" Ruth's all-time Series record.

Extends Own Record
Hank Bauer, the Yank lead-offman, was more intent on extending a record of his own, however. He slapped Lew's second pitch into center field—the sixteenth successive Series game in which he's hit safely. Eddie Mathews threw Gil McDougald's high hopper away for a 2-base error, and Mickey Mantle was passed purposely. The bases were loaded, with nobody out, but Burdette wiggled out of it pretty well.

Schoendienst took Elston Howard's slow hopper and got a force play, the run scoring. Yogi Berra's grounder was transformed into a side-retiring. Schoendienst-to-Johnny Logan-to-Frank Torre double play.

Having ruined Burdette's runless charm, the Yanks were given precious little time to savor their little triumph.

Brave lead—offer Bruton squared the issue post haste

World Series homer by a pitcher since "Bucky" Walters turned the trick for Cincinnati in 1940.

Practically all of the game's excitement was packed into the first inning, which ran 42 minutes but which must have seemed more like 42 hours to Stengel. Things couldn't have looked much blacker for O'Casey at that juncture—his boys were six behind and had to continue facing the lethal slants of Yankee-killer Burdette. On top of it all, there wasn't the remotest chance of a game-halting rain. The skies had cleared into a lovely autumn day.

There was nothing for Casey and company to do but play out the string. And, the situation got no better. The Braves in the next seven innings hiked their margin to 11 runs (13-2).

Mathews' double and Covington's single produced a run off Johnny Kucks in the second. Successive singles by Aaron, Covington and Frank Torre and a sacrifice fly by Crandall plated a pair off slow-balling Murry Dickson in the seventh.

The Braves gave rookie Zack Monroe his baptism in the 3-run eighth. The offense consisted of a double by Schoendienst, singles by Mathews and Aaron, a walk to Bruton and a scoring fly by Andy Pafko.

Mantle Swats 2

Prior to the ninth, Mickey Mantle's powerful fourth-inning homer into the bullpen was the only earned run off Burdette in his most recent 32 innings against the Yanks.

With McDougald on base in the ninth, Mantle cleared the left center wall for his second homer of the game and his eleventh in Series play—which put him behind only the immortal Babe Ruth among all-time sluggers. The "Babe" hit 15 Series homers. Bauer also homered in the ninth. After four straight hits in the ninth, Burdette got back on the track to retire three in a row.

With their baker's dozen, the Braves more than evened the score for the 12 New York scored in last year's third game and equaled the top series total ever compiled against the Yanks. Last year, the champion Braves got no

Warren Spahn, who probably will pitch the fourth game Sunday, said he figured it will take six games for the Braves to repeat last year's triumph.

"These Yankees are tough,"

Lew Burdette, who added another chapter of personal insult to the once-proud Yankees Thursday, said:

"I'd like to see the Yankees in the National league and see where they would finish. They're no tougher than a couple of clubs in our league."

rest thorn in the Yankees' side was Billy Bruton, the man who was a hospital case in last year's series.

Reporters had to pry comment from Bruton, who continued in a hero's role Thursday. Bruton, who slammed the winning hit in Wednesday's 4-3, 10-inning triumph over the Yanks, banged a homer and two singles Thursday.

"I like this World Series competition," smiled Bruton. "I'm just swinging up there, but things are happening. And they couldn't be happening at a better time."

Los Angeles — (U) — The Dodgers may have played like a bunch of clowns at times this season, but nobody's laughing at them at the bank.

One estimate—admittedly unofficial—is that the club grossed more than $4 million during its first year in Los Angeles.

This estimate is based on figures supplied by Coliseum General Manager Bill Nicholas.

when you are hitting and pitching," he said quietly. "It's far from over. They're tough and it's going to be a rugged series."

"Lew Burdette was just great out there for us. It was natural for him to let up in the ninth when he gave up four of his 7 hits. But by then we had about as many runs as we've had all season."

The Braves got 14 against the Phillies, Aug. 1.

Haney said if the Yankees go with Larsen he will use the same lineup that trounced New York in the second game.

Haney's face lit up at the mention of Billy Bruton, who won the opener with a tenth inning hit and Thursday belted a homer and two singles in four official trips.

"I'm just tickled to death that Bruton has come along like he has," Haney said feelingly.

He chuckled when someone asked if he actually thought beforehand that a team could score seven runs in the first inning in a World Series game with the Yankees.

"The Yankees are the Yankees," he said. "But they also are just human beings with two arms and two legs like anybody else. And besides, we've also had seven runs scored in an inning against us, haven't we?"

After finding the winning combination with a new quarterback last weekend, the Appleton High school junior varsity football team seeks its second straight victory Saturday morning against Green Bay East. East is winless in two starts.

The game, at Goodland field, starts at 9:30.

The Junior Terrors were held to a tie by Fond du Lac in their opener but then whitewashed Sheboygan North, 20-0, last Saturday. Quarterback Dick Bloomer, who was moved up to the first team late in the week, paced the win with a fine job of faking and play selection. Dennis Garvey ran for 150 yards and scored two touchdowns.

The Terrors haven't allowed a point in two games.

Public Envy Modern Doctors' Look of Success

Detroit —P— A psychiatrist says the public thinks less of doctors now than it once did because the doctors make the mistake of wearing good clothes and driving the best cars.

"People don't like that," Dr. Lewis L. Robbins of Hillside hospital, Glen Oaks, N. Y., told the Michigan State Medical society Thursday.

He said doctors arouse envy by appearing so successful. "People had reverence and respect for the old time doctor who sat up all night with the child, even though the child usually died," he continued.

"Now doctors do too well. They give the child medicine and cure him and go their way, appearing like highly paid and competent technicians to laymen's eyes, lacking the human touch."

sen and Carlton E. Saecker (H. G. Saecker's son).

Carlton E. Saecker was elected president, holding this position until 1940. He is now living on the east coast.

Eventful Period Although Saecker's presidency lasted only four years, it was an eventful period for the company. Under his leadership the firm entered a new phase: manufacturing supercalenders for finishing paper.

Until the middle 1930s, paper requiring a pigment-coated surface was taken to plants or converters specializing in this field. But about this time Consolidated Water Power and Paper company, Wisconsin Rapids, began experimenting with an innovation in papermaking—integrating a coating section on a papermaking machine.

This grew out of the graphic arts industry's need for more economical printing paper for magazine and book illustrations. After years of research and development Consolidated had perfected a high-speed machine capable of making and coating paper at the same time. This was a widely acknowledged "first."

For a while Consolidated's existing, supercalenders were adequate to handle its coated paper business. But when Consolidated received a very substantial order from Time, Inc., the need for high-speed supercalenders to keep up with its papermaking machine became acute.

To solve this problem, Consolidated turned to Appleton Machine, recognizing that Appleton might well have the facilities and technological skills to develop this new product from the blueprint stage up. Appleton Machine was asked to build three supercalenders which would exceed the speed of Consolidated's papermaking machine.

The Giant machines were built in less than a year and were installed at Consolidated just prior to Pearl Harbor. Progress in this challenging new field was of course stopped by World War II. During the war, Appleton Machine turned to making defense products—torpedo warheads.

In 1940 H. P. Madsen was elected president, Furrminger, vice president, and Bloomer, treasurer.

All during the war the paper industry kept its eyes on Consolidated and its unusual supercalenders which were turning out super paper at speeds previously impossible.

Plant Expansion The machines performed so well that in 1946 other paper companies flooded Appleton Machine company with orders for a similar type of supercalender. As a result, the firm underwent its third major plant expansion in 17 years.

It built a new brick assembly plant, a roll shop for making filled rolls and increased the size of its office building.

Since the end of World War II, Appleton Machine has produced nearly $40 million worth of supercalenders (about 70 per cent of all those made in the United States). Many have been manufactured for European mills. As far as is known, every one of these supercalenders is still operating.

Time magazine, which was indirectly responsible for Appleton Machine's venture into the supercalender industry, recently played another important role in the local firm's history. Time, Inc., and Crown Zellerbach ordered the two largest supercalenders ever made in the United States for their jointly owned and operated coated book paper mill at St. Francisville, La.

The two mammoth supercalenders each have a 250-inch face, run at speeds up to 2,500 feet per minute and weigh 570 tons. They're both 32 feet high and are powered by 1,000 horse power electric drives.

In order to complete the giant paper finishing machines it was necessary for Appleton Machine to build another giant—a roll press to make filled rolls big enough for the supercalenders. The Appleton roll press—the world's largest—can exert 3,500 tons of hydraulic pressure on rolls with widths up to 320 inches across the face.

In 1949 Madsen died unexpectedly and V. W. Bloomer, who started with the firm in 1920, was elected president. He serves in that capacity today.

In 1953, Loftus Engineering corporation, headed by John M. MacDonald and Harold L. Perlman, bought the outstanding stock in Appleton Machine company. MacDonald currently is chairman of the board and Perlman, secretary and treasurer.

Miss Carrie Morgan, who has lived all of her adult life in Appleton, has had a rich and active life in the community. She served as superintendent of Appleton's schools for 25 years. Morgan school was named in her honor. At 94, Miss Morgan no longer is active in the affairs of the company, but still recalls the early days in warm detail.

Since the days of 1900 when the firm had only 40 employees, it has become a major producer of paper and pulp mill equipment with a payroll of 250 people.

WIDE MANUFACTURE Appleton Machine continues to manufacture many of its original paper mill products—screens and grinders—and also is the exclusive builder and distributor of the Gilbert and Nash air guide.

With the acquisition of Doven Machine and Engineering company this year, it added specialty slitters, rewinders and hot spot carbonizing equipment for printing presses to its line of products. The foundry and machine division manufactures special machines for many other industries, plus auxiliary equipment for the pulp and paper industry.

In addition to MacDonald, Bloomer and Perlman, other officers of the firm are Tany Agnion, executive vice president; Ray S. Bender, sales vice president; and Eugene Doven, vice president. Doven division.

The history of Appleton Machine company, one of Appleton's major industrial organizations, closely parallels the history of the community—from flour and lumber mills to papermaking. Throughout its three-quarters of a century Appleton Machine company has specialized in producing vital manufacturing equipment. It is using this theme today as its 75th anniversary slogan: "75 Years of Progress Through Specialization."

Likens Braves' Change To Christian Fulfillment

Black Creek — The Rev. John Scheib, Evangelical and Reformed synod president, Appleton, likened the baseball Braves' transformation into a top team in its move from Boston to Milwaukee to the change in a person who accepts Christ and tries to follow His way.

The Rev. Mr. Scheib addressed a meeting of the Appleton region of the North Wisconsin synod at St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church.

The Rev. Elmer A. Becker, pastor of St. John's, was re-elected regional president and Mrs. Harvey Hansen, secretary. The Rev. James B. Jett, Oshkosh, was elected vice president, and John Much of Dale, treasurer.

The Rev. Mr. Scheib said a Christian must place Christ first in his life.

"Bear Fruits" "We may hold correct belief as Christians," he said, "but it is of no value if we do nothing about it. Bearing fruit as Jesus did in doing the will of His Father and doing it in Jesus' name is what counts."

The Rev. Dr. Silas Bittner, Philadelphia, secretary of the board of pension and relief, reported his office handles $690,000 annually for 408 retired or disabled pastors and 558 widows of pastors. In Wisconsin $26,405 annually goes to 12 retired pastors and 22 widows.

Mrs. Reuben Schroer, Akron, Ohio, said the Women's guilds gave gifts of about $500,000 to boards and agencies of the church. She said "the Christians in the community" is the guilds' theme this year.

The Rev. Emil Menzel, St. Louis, a veteran missionary in India representing the international missions, declared the time has come for the native church to stand on its own feet and express its witness in native culture since political leaders resent the work of foreign missionaries.

The meeting Wednesday was attended by 94 persons from 25 congregations from Kiel to Shawano.

Copper Tops Strong Gains

End of Strike Settles Stock of General Motors

New York — Coppers were strong as the stock market continued a drive to record levels in active trading early this afternoon.

Gains of fractions to a point or more were scored by a wide variety of key stocks. A scattering of issues rose 2 or 3 points. Coppers and other nonferrous metals were favored in the wake of price boosts for copper, zinc and lead. Steels, motors, drugs, rails, electronics and airlines joined in the renewed advance. Oils were up despite price cuts.

GM Stock Settlement of General Motors' labor dispute fortified the market. GM went ahead a point or so in brisk dealings.

Favorable business and economic news accompanied the rise. Rail freight carloadings were at a 1958 peak. September construction outlays were reported on a par with the August record.

Kennecott and Magma Copper were up about 3 points each. Anaconda and International Nickel rose more than a point apiece. Phelps Dodge and Alcoa advanced about a point while American Smelting and Aluminum Ltd. made fractional gains.

Rhodesian Selection Trust, the big African copper producer, was unchanged at 24 on a block of 58,000 shares, then rose a fraction.

Polaroid added well over 2 points. Gains of more than a point were made by Gulf Oil and Pfizer while Lorillard gained a fraction.

U. S. Steel U. S. Steel and Jones & Laughlin were about a point ahead. Republic Steel rose fractionally.

Small gains were posted by Chrysler and Ford. Up around a point were Union Carbide, Westinghouse Electric, American Can, Loew's, Merck and American Airlines Texas Co. Royal Dutch, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Goodyear, Sears Roebuck, River Valley Pontiac 2.10.

Some Get Ducks, Some Get Fines

Waupeca — Duck hunting season in Waupeca county got off to an excellent start Wednesday morning with many hunters coming home with the bag limit and some with a court fine.

Fined $25 for exceeding the duck bag limit was Robert Krause, 43, 538 Broad street, Menasha. Krause was arrested about 8 a.m. Wednesday in the town of Fremont for having six ducks in possession.

Two other Fox Valley men, Joseph E. School, 207 S. Willow, Kimberly, and Charles Reiter, 926 1/2 N. Lawe, Kaukauna, each paid $10 fines for hunting ducks in open water. They were arrested about 8 a.m. Wednesday in the town of Fremont.

The hunting violators appeared before Justice George Whalen.

Machine Company Celebrates Its 75th Year in Appleton's Industrial Scene

Beginnings of Firm Date Back to Island Blacksmith Shop of 1857

This year Appleton Machine company is celebrating its 75th anniversary, but the complete story of the company begins 101 years ago. At that time, Crosby Ketchum owned a small blacksmith shop on what is now S. Oneida street and locally known as the "flats."

Besides doing the usual chores of a smithy, Ketchum also repaired equipment for nearby woodworking factories and flour mills.

Ten years later, in 1867, John G. Morgan came here from New York and joined Ketchum, buying one-third of the business. Morgan's daughter, Carrie, became an officer of the company some years later and held an active interest until 1933.

The partnership of Ketchum and Morgan lasted until 1879. Then Ketchum sold his two-thirds interest in the business to a man named Bassett, who had come here from Massachusetts. The firm became known as Morgan and Bassett.

In 1883, Gottfried Saecker moved to Appleton with his wife and three sons and organized the Appleton Machine company with Morgan and Bassett. In 1887, Saecker bought out Bassett's interest. This move coincided with the firm's entrance into the paper and pulp mill machinery manufacturing business.

firm's total working force, which today numbers 250. The building was located on the site of the present firm in what is known as the "flats" on S. Oneida street.

responded with the emergence of water wheels, a boat canal, a railroad, a hydro-electric power city of 10,000 population. With plant, street cars and telephones. Eighty factories sprang up along the banks of the Fox river and on Grand Chute island, including lumber, flour and woolen mills. At this time the Appleton area ranked second only to Milwaukee in flour milling capacity. But the area gradually declined as the center of flour milling moved west across the state and into Minnesota — the current milling capital of the world.

At first, the migration of the flour industry seemed like a dark cloud to Appleton Machine, but papermakers, realizing the proximity of the area to sources of pulpwood, soon began converting the deserted factories into papermaking mills. This fortunate turn started Appleton Machine manufacturing grinders for making wood pulp rather than grinders for making flour.

An old Appleton Machine catalog published in 1890 shows the sale of 129 wood grinders of which 54 were installed in this area. Simultaneously the firm began making filled rolls for paper making machines.

Just before the turn of the century F. E. Saecker took over the presidency of Appleton Machine company from his father. He remained at this post until 1936. Throughout his nearly 40 years as president of the firm, his brother, H. G. Saecker, served as treasurer, and Miss Carrie Morgan, secretary.

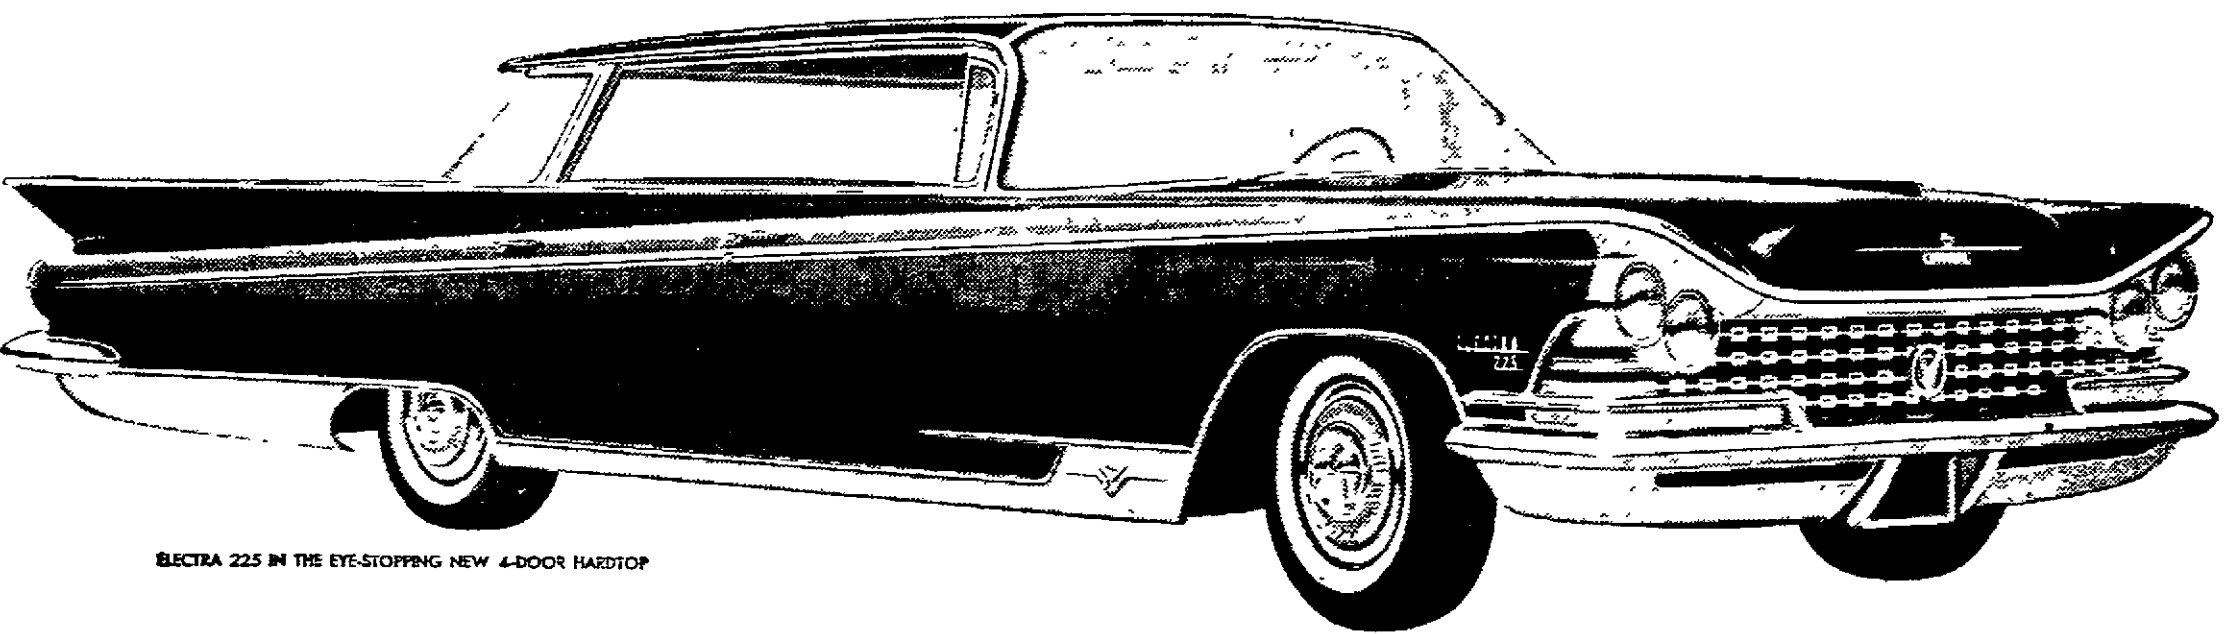

In addition to grinders and filled rolls, the firm entered other areas of paper machinery products, including barkers, chippers, wet machines, jordan, screens and splitters. These products remained the staples of the company until 1938.

In 1936, F. E. Saecker retired and sold his stock in Appleton Machine to a group of employees: R. M. Bloomer, C. R. Furminger, H. P. Mad-

Today the Firm's Plants straddle S. Oneida street. A portion of the building on the east side of the street is shown above and it is here that its manufactured products are assembled for shipping to the nation's paper industry. Across the street is the foundry in which the special machines and auxiliary equipment are made.
